Modulus

From H.H.S. to the Four

With our nation at war, Huntington High alumni are scattered from Alaska to Panama, from England to the Philippines.

Corners of the World

These are some of the snapshots, taken in different parts of the globe, which were given us by fellows in service or by their parents.

A Soldier's Vision

"I will lift up mine eyes
unto the hills my help"

Dedication

Many soldiers have for the first time realized the true meaning of this Biblical quotation. Far away from loved ones, they may turn to One whose love is all-inclusive and whose power to protect and comfort is ever available.

We wish to remind the men in service, especially those who have attended Huntington High School, that we have not forgotten them and that all of us are doing everything possible to bring them home quickly. With this thought in mind, the Modulus Staff dedicates this book. We sincerely hope that after their job is finished, they will be able to recall happy scenes of their high school days by reading this, the 1945 Modulus.

The Editor

In Memoriam

MISS MINNIE HOFFMAN

The death of Miss Minnie Hoffman came as a shock and a deep sorrow to the faculty and students of H. H. S. All who knew Miss Hoffman thought a great deal of her. As a teacher she was very conscientious, and in her relations with pupils she was always friendly and willing to help. She taught German and mathematics here for twenty-eight years. We of Huntington High School will never forget her.

These are the fellows who left the halls of H. H. S. as seniors to serve their country. Because they missed part of their year in high school, we feel they deserve special recognition.

The above you will recognize as being shots of the interior and exterior of Huntington High School, the community gymnasium, and Kriegbaum Field. These pictures offer real proof that the students of H. H. S. can enjoy the very finest of buildings as they work or play.

Personnel

Our Pop Sergt

Supt. H. Burton Stephan

Superintendent

"A steadfast man with a forward looking mind" very well describes our superintendent, Burton H. Stephan. He is calm, dependable, and distinguished, with a quiet sense of humor. Although the affairs of the city schools are numerous, they are kept in smooth working order by Mr. Stephan.

School Board

The Board of Education decides the policies to be employed in the running of the city school system. Each member is e'ected for a term of three years. This year the president of the School Board was Mr. Oscar K. Zeigler. Mr. Frank C. Helvie served as treasurer, and Mrs. Ruth M. Dunkin was the secretary.

Principal

The principal, Harold S. Johnson, will always be remembered by the students of Huntington High School. Quiet and affable, he has succeeded in keeping school affairs running smoothly. Along with his duties as principal, he has been sincere in his desire to be he'pful and has given aid and advice not only to individual students but also to the Student Council.

Principal Harold S. Johnson

Clerks

Miss Fredith Langley, clerk of the superintendent, has set an example for the school by her quiet efficiency in asssisting Mr. Stephan with his numerous duties.

Miss Imogene Snyder, secretary to the principal, has contributed much to the school by her work in the office and her cheerful disposition.

Guidance

This year the ever-growing guidance department has attempted something new. This change was the presentation each Wednesday morning of a series of programs based on attitudes, attitudes on such things as religion, drama, music, safety, and boy-and-girl relations. These programs have been put on by the students themselves and have been very effective in expressing ideas on these subjects from different points of view. Truly the guidance department has aided the students in developing their appreciation of worthwhile things.

Mr. Perrigo and Mrs. Hillegas have headed the department this year; and their assistants were Mr. Gordon, Miss Emma Kline, and Mr. Gerdes.

Attendance and Health

It is no small task keeping straight the attendance records of all the students of H. H. S. This sizable task belongs to Mrs. Hillegas and Mr. Perrigo, assisted by several pupils. Mrs. Hillegas has her office in Room 208-A, and Mr. Perrigo may be found in the book room.

Mrs. Bechtold has the even larger job of keeping track of all school-age persons in the city. Sharing Room 110 with her is Mrs. Sayle, who is responsible for looking after the health of all the pupils of Huntington.

Janitors

The janitors, the continually busy men who keep our school clean, are Emery Telfer, Dennis Nowels, and Guy Scott. Mr. Telfer has worked as custodian at our high school for 24 years, "Dennie" has been here 13 years, and Mr. Scott is almost a newcomer, having been employed at H. H. S. for one year.

They have all done more than their jobs; they have been good friends to all of the students and teachers.

SENIOR OFFICERS
Miss Zahn, Maurice Copenhaver, Susie Brown, Gene Musselman, Nancy Winebrenner

Senior Class

The Class of '45, better known as "senior," started its last year by electing the following officers: Maurice Copenhaver, president; Gene Musselman, vice-president; Leo Davis (Navy), Nancy Windbrenner, secretary; Jim Cozad (Navy), Susanne Brown, treasurer; and last, but definitely not least, our sponsor, Miss Geraldine Zahn.

To prepare for the big activity of the year, a committee was named to select the class play, with the following serving: Betty Kriegbaum, Barbara Huser, Dick Conklin, Bill Bostel and Maurice Copenhaver.

In February a committee was named to choose the flower, colors, and motto, with Marilyn Caldwell as chairman, and the following members: Barbara Huser, Jane Ann Emley, Gibson Gardner, Russell Johnson, and Maurice Copenhaver. We chose the rose for the class flower and dusty rose and blue for our colors. The motto is "It matters not how long you live, but how."

To consider the class project, the following committee was named: Edmund Wasmuth, chairman; Phyllis Chalmers, Susanne Brown, Patricia Sprinkle, Patricia Burke, and Don Diffenbaugh.

For the class party, held Friday, May 4, committees were named as follows:

Arrangements: John Glasson, chairman; Tom Dennie, Jo Ann Clark, Peggy Fansler, Marie Frewer, and Eugene Schenkel.

Refreshments: Imogene Altman, chairman; Barbara Bonebrake, co-chairman; Margretha Ervin, Marthetta Ervin, Susan Hemphill, Beulah Hemphill, Wilma Laymon, J. C. Carl, Bill Burman, Duane Dubbs, Dean Pease, Judith Eby and Fred Rudig.

Ticket and Publicity: Nadine Gilbert, chairman; Arlene Funk, Ruth Jamison, Willodean Labertew, Jean Ann Mickley, Mary Robinson, Bob Ball, Dick Hammel, Jim Lamson, Pat Porter, Elizabeth Wiles.

Clean-up: Lorna Schultz, chairman; Betty Shearer, Bob Hoke, Bevan Youse, Hattie Short Besser, Dorothy Sink, Bonnie Thorne, Lavie Smith, Marjorie Spath, Janet Stoutenberry, Gweneth Swaidner, Ilo Van Buskirk, and Alfred Waggoner.

All of the seniors had a very enjoyable time at the annual junior-senior reception held at the Masonic Temple, May 17.

Junior Class

OFFICERS

The junior class this year has a reason to be proud of itself. For one thing, we supplied three of the first ten on the basketball squad. We donated two-thirds of the yell leaders. Not content with this, we sold enough candy to the people who attended to sweeten them up for life; well, over twelve hundred dollars worth, to be more specific.

You can understand why this was really a big year for the junior class with leaders like Marvin Priddy, president; Gene Wogan, vice president; Peggy Doherty, secretary, and Bob Luce, treasurer. Two teachers helped direct the class, Mr. Perrigo and Mr. Gerdes.

As to the big event of the year, the junior-senior reception, we really planned big doings. Six very capable committees took charge of the festivities. They were:

Decoration Committee: Billie Ann Marquart and Charlotte Rahn, co-chairmen; Carlos Kennedy, Janet Eberhart, Marjorie Marx, Bob Carr, Bob Broom, Stanley Pontious.

Music and Program: Roger Kauffman, chairman; Dick Windemuth, Barbara Miller, Nancy Herbst, Minnette Will, Nancy Paul, Vivian Brubaker.

Clean-up: Betty Becker, chairman; Wanda Wiggins, Marvin Weber, Bob Herzog, Phil Monsey, Gretchen Poehler, John Hinds.

Menu: Porter Ayres, chairman; Ed Herran, Carolyn Diffendorfer, Nancy Everett, Phyllis Stover, Ann Porter, Anita Stern.

Ticket and Publicity: Dick Morgan, chairman; Edna Roudebush, Roy Harsh, Hurleen Feltman, Barbara Brahs, Ed Beatty, Nan Clark, John Fisher, Audrey Neher.

Special Invitations: Tom Rohm, chairman; Joan Gilkison, Pat Jones, Rex Yoder, Joyce Garber, Pat Hirneise.

The most important activity throughout the year for the junior class is that of raising money for the junior-senior reception by the sale of confections at all athletic contests. Juniors who took the most active part in helping to manage the concessions were Betty Becker, Porter Ayres, and Charles Ehinger. To give some ideal of the loyalty of the class to this project, here is a list of the members who helped sell: Amick, Brubaker, Best, Brahs, Casey, Day, Diffendorfer, Eberhart, Everetts, Frye, Fansler, Feltman, Garber, Gilbreath, Gephart, Gilkison, Horn, Herbst, Hirneise, Hale, Hummer, Hemphill, Jay, Jones, Knight, Marx, Myers, Miller, Morris, Marquart, Martin, Neher, Porter, Paul, Poehler, Rahn, Robinson, Roudebush, Sturdivant, Stern, Sults, Stover, Vought, Welker, Walters, Weinley, Will, Wirt, Williams, Wiggins, Beatty, Carr, Fishbaugh, Herzog, Harsh, Hinds, Kauffman, Kennedy, Reifert, Tobias, Welber, Weber, Christ, Young, Pontious, Broom.

Sophomore Class

Bob Fordyce, Paul Sheppard, Dick Meckstroth,
Dick Bonewitz, Coach Williams

This year is a year a certain Sophomore Class isn't going to forget. We've really had a swell time.

Our class party was a lot of fun, and our sponsor is tops with us.

We held our election early in the year, and the results were:

Dick Bonewitz, president; Dick Meckstroth, vice-president; Paul Sheppard, secretary; Bob Fordyce, treasurer; and Coach "Bill" Williams, sponsor.

First Row—Bob Ard, Bob Barnes, Dick Bear, Jim Beaty, Bob Becker, Gene Beemer, Katherine Biehl.

Fourth Row—Willard Caley, Jean Carey, Sara Casey, Marjorie Castleman, Margaret Chenoweth, Lois Jean Chesterman, Virginia Christ.

OFFICERS

Freshman Class

Sure we're freshmen and proud of it, even if we did get a little mixed up when we first arrived. We aren't altogether "green," though. Gosh no! Look who we picked for our sponsor, none other than Mr. Lester Gordon; and we did all right in our election of officers too. Jack Jones is our president; Barbara Ziegler, vice-president; Betty Weinley, secretary; and Paul Buzzard, treasurer.

As soon as the upperclassmen get through with their parties, we'll have our turn and show them what a party really is.

All through the year—

Seniors tried to sell us tickets for an elevator ride;

Juniors set us on the fountain, but it didn't wet our pride;

Sophomores tried to tell us that we were a bunch of pests.

But they can't kid us. We know we're the best class in H. H. S.

Top Row—Barbara Ann Alexander, Marvin Altman, Bonnie Bailey, Melba Bailey, Ronald Baldwin, Germaine Barnes, Bob Beach, Carolyn Beal.

Second Row—Ruth Becker, Robert Best, Lois Biehl, Barbara Bogear, Beatrice Bogear, Jane Booker, Phyllis Booher, Wallace Byrd.

Bringin' Home The Bacon

Football

Coach Bill Williams

The football squad had an unusually successful season, winning seven out of nine games; four of these nine were conference games. The Vikings beat Wabash, Warsaw, and Elwood and lost to Peru to win the Central Indiana Conference championship. Besides the trophy in recognition of this accomplishment, each of the players was awarded an engraved silver football.

The individual player awards in footbal!l were as follows:

Senior jackets and major letters—Bill Bostel, Leo Davis, Bob Hoover, Clete Olinger, Tye Robinson, Jim Cozad, Ed Wasmuth, and Fred Rudig.

Student Managers—Gene Musselman, Dick Hammel, and Harold Riggle.

Other major letters to under classmen—Joe Burkhart, Don Dimond, Bob Luce, Bob Morris, Marvin Priddy, Tom Rohm, Don Williams, Gene Wogan, and Rex Yoder.

Minor 6-inch letters—Lyle Ahner, Willard Caley, Dick Christ, Bob Fordyce, Gibson Gardner, Bob Hullinger, Wayne Jenks, Dick Meckstroth, Harold Shultz, Dean Stephan, Harold Thompson, Gene Welker, Ivan Wilhelm, Dick Yoder, Max McDowell, Paul Warkentein, and Jim Leweke. Those who came out late but did not receive a letter were Don Carnes, Max Risser, Waldo Bostel, and Joe Powers.

Other individual recognitions:

Bill Bostel—All C. I. C., All State 4th team.
Leo Davis—All C. I. C., Honorable Mention All State.
Bob Hoover—All C. I. C., Honorable Mention All State.
Clete Olinger—All C. I. C.
Tye Robinson—All C. I. C.
Jim Cozad—Honorable Mention C. I. C.
Ed Wasmuth—Honorable Mention C. I. C.
Gene Wogan—Honorable Mention C. I. C.

A winning ball club consists of both a capable team and a capable coach. The members of the team did their part but would never have seen so many victories had it not been for the excellent coaching of Bill Williams and his assistant, Oscar Naab. The football squad has brought much glory to H. H. S. this year by countless hours of sweat and hard work.

A banquet was held at the Masonic Temple for all members of the C. I. C. in honor of their winning the championship this year. Lt. Commander Len. Waters was the speaker.

C. I. C. Trophy

Senior Major Football Write-Ups

TYE ROBINSON—right half—All C. I. C. Tyrus "T" did some swell running and passing but probably did the "Vikes" the most good in his consistent work on defense and offensive blocking. He really played heads-up football and was on the job practically every minute of every game!

CLETE OLINGER—left half—All C. I. C. "Whitey" can best be called "Sparky". He realy sparked things up! His running, kicking, and defensive work were very important to the Vikes in having the fine season that they had.

JIM COZAD—fullback—All C. I. C. Honorable Mention. Jim came through at the fullback job and really made things tough on the opposition. He was a swell defensive line back'r'upper!

BILL BOSTEL—left end—All C. I. C. All State 4th team. "Big Bill Bones" in his first year of football came through in fine shape. Rated by C. I. C. coaches as the outstanding end in the Conference, "Bones" was a swell pass receiver and a fine defensive end.

LEO DAVIS & BOB HOOVER—right and left guards, respectively—All C. I. C. All state Honorable Mention. "Lee" and "Cosy" must be mentioned together. They really were tough in the center of that line. Their spirit, fight, and determination to win carried through our whole squad and really made us the "Fighting Vikes"! Huntington has had some fine guards, but this pair can be rated with the best!

FRED RUDIG—guard and center. Freddie fitted in almost any position we needed him and did a grand job. Full of fight and speed, he really was a valuable man to our team.

ED WASMUTH—right end—All C. I. C. Honorable Mention. "Goog" filled the right end spot in great style. He and Bill gave Huntington one of the finest pair of ends it has ever had. "Goog" himself did a fine job of blocking and pass-receiving.

GENE MUSSELMAN, DICK HAMMEL, "RABBIT" RIGGLE, and BOB HENDRICKS did a swell job of organizing and handling the football equipment and in taking care of the gang.

Back Row—Stephan, Caley, Robinson, Cozad, Coach Williams, Burkhart, Luce, Wilhelm, Olinger, Second Row—Meckstroth, Rohm, Christ, Fordyce, Schenkel, Gardner, Williams, Priddy, Oden.

September 8, 1944 Huntington 7, Marion 6

Marion's Giants came to Huntington with thoughts of revenge in their hearts and left with the thoughts intact, having plenty of need for revenge after taking a heartbreaking loss to the Vikes, 7-6.

The game opened fast, Burkhart going over to score shortly after the opening kick-off. Cletus Olinger provided the margin of victory as he kicked the point after touchdown from placement. Marion scored a few minutes later but failed to convert. From there on in the Vikes managed to hold their hard-driving opponents scoreless for three quarters.

September 15, 1944 Huntington 13
Central Catholic 0

A highly rated band of men from Central Catholic invaded Huntington on September 15 and went away just as highly rated, despite their having lost to the Vikings in one of the memorable games of the year, 13-0. The first half afforded the Vikes some anxious moments and found the Irish presenting a tough defense, to hold the Vikes to a scoreless tie at halftime.

In the first few moments of the third quarter, however, big Jim Cozad went over for the score, and Olinger converted, making the score at the end of the third quarter 7-0. Midway in the last quarter, Olinger went around end thirty yards to score for the Vikes. The little halfback's kick, however, was blocked.

September 22, 1944 Huntington 21, Wabash 7

Huntington's powerful Vikes left their home grounds for the first time, September 22, and easily outplayed the Wabash Apaches, 21-7.

Big Ed Wasmuth went over for the first score on a pass from Quarterback Joe Burkhart; Clete Olinger added the first of three points after touchdowns which he made in the course of the evening.

In the second quarter the Vikes again scored with Jim Bill Cozad smashing over, and Olinger making the conversion. Little Dicky Wilson, of Wabash, brought the fans to their feet with a slashing run-back of Don Dimond's booming kickoff; however, he was finally tackled from behind by Joe Burkhart on Huntington's 28-yard line.

In the third quarter Cletus Olinger put the game "on ice" with a 30-yard jaunt around end to score. At that time he also added the P. A. T., his fifth out of six attempts.

September 29, 1944 Huntington 24,
Central Ft. Wayne 0

The Vikes remained undefeated, were avenged for many losses they had suffered in years gone by, and received the nickname, "Class of the C. I. C.," as they slapped Central, Fort Wayne, 24-0, in a game at the South Side Stadium, in Fort Wayne.

Joe Burkhart opened the scoring with a line play in the first quarter, and the Vikes picked up six points a quarter thereafter.

Bill "Bones" Bostel accounted for the second touchdown on a pass from Burkhart. Clete Olinger went around his own end to make the score 18-0 at the end of the third quarter; and Joe Burkhart passed the final touchdown into the arms of Ed Wasmuth, who took good care of it.

October 6, 1944 Huntington 12, Warsaw 6

Big Jim Bill Cozad had a field day, or evening, the night of October 6 as he pulled the Vikes through a tight game with the Warsaw Tigers, 12-6, on a very cold Kriegbaum Field.

Cozad had already scored one, in the first quarter, when Hawthorne scared the pants (figuratively, of course) off the Huntington clientele with a seventy-yard run, which was called back on an offside.

A few minutes after the halftime, Cozad smashed over again. Warsaw's score came in the last quarter on a pass from Hawthorne to Perkins.

October 13, 1944 Huntington 12
North Side, Fort Wayne 18

Friday the thirteenth was truly a dark day for Huntington High's grid machine, as North Side's powerful Redskins downed all hope for an undefeated season, 18-12, at the Fort Wayne stadium.

The Redskins opened up in the first quarter to push across two touchdowns before the befuddled Vikes got a defense set up; but, after that defense started clicking, the attempts of the Redskins to score were thwarted until the third quarter. Patterson opened the scoring, accounting for the Redskins' first two touchdowns. The Viking's lone touchdown in the first half came on a pass from Cozad to Bostel!

In the last quarter, North scored again, Patterson doing the honors; and Bostel got the Vike's other touchdown, again on a pass from Cozad.

Huntington's fighting defense was called on many times throughout the game to make goal-line stands and responded beautifully. Among the outstanding features of the second half were Bob "Cossie" Hoover's interception of a North Side pass, and the fine work done by the Viking guards, Hoover and Leo Davis.

October 20, 1944 Huntington 37, Elwood 0

Tye Robinson, rated the steadiest, hardest-working back in the Huntington lineup, slashed brilliantly into the Elwood defense, October 20, at Kriegbaum Field, to score four times in the Viking's 37-0 rout of their conference opponents. The touchdowns were made on runs of 4, 15, 45, and 25 yards, respectively.

Bob Luce and Jim Bill Cozad got the other two touchdowns, and Clete Olinger added the lone P. A. T.

October 25, 1944 Huntington 19, Bluffton 12

The Vikes won their seventh game, in the cold, cold, Wednesday evening air as they pushed aside an enterprising squad from Bluffton, 19-12. The game provided many anxious moments for the Norsemen, as they trailed at the half, 12-7.

Clete Olinger scored the first touchdown, in the first minute of play, and kicked the extra point. The rest of the half was Bluffton's as far as scoring went as the outweighed Vikes were apparently swamped by the big opponents. At the start of the second half, Don Dimond intercepted a Bluffton pass, and, a few plays later, Jim Cozad took the Vikes into the lead, scoring on a line buck. On the first play of the last quarter, Bob Luce took the ball thirty yards to score, giving the Vikes their final margin of victory.

Basketball

Our "giant-killer" Vikes had a better than average regular season with twelve victories and six losses. By winning seven consecutive games away from home, the Norse set a record, and later in the season their improved form set up seven consecutive victories.

The Red and Black started out with a 38 to 20 victory over their old foe, Warren, and with a 38 to 26 win over Warsaw in a conference title, both games away from home. The Vikes dropped two games in succession to Wabash and Rochester, both home games, then bounced back into the win column with a victory over Peru at the Peru goalery. Bluffton hit the Vikings, but hard, in a home game, 37 to 26. Huntington left home to blast Berne 51 to 40, then returned to the Community Gym to lose to Muncie Burris 29 to 28. Decatur was another victim in their own gym 49 to 12. Huntington was the scene of victory for the first time of the season when Hartford City was trounced 48 to 29.

The Norse started their seven-game winning streak by beating South Side, Fort Wayne, 35 to 33 on a last-second field goal by Bob Hendricks. Clear Creek was defeated 38 to 21, Elwood was over come 45 to 28 in a C. I. C. game, and Marion was beaten 53 to 44 to mark up the third consecutive victory and the seventh straight win.

Central, of Fort Wayne, ended the Red and Black victory parade 47 to 45, and Plymouth handed the Vikes another loss, 55 to 40, both games played on foreign courts. The Lime City quintet wound up the season by beating another C. I. C. opponent, Alexandria, 51 to 49, and by making it two out of three over Fort Wayne teams when North Side was edged out in the final game of the season, 47 to 45.

NEW YEAR'S DAY TOURNEY

Vikings 28, Wabash 29

Vikings 27, Peru 30 (Consolation)

Individual Write ups for Basketball Team:

GENE MUSSELMAN—Senior—5' 9"—135 lbs.—Acting Captain, All Regional Forward—"Muss" came through in grand style this year. Always a team man, "Muss" hit well and used his speed-deception to swell advantage. When the chips were down, "Muss" was best.

BOB HENDRICKS—Senior—6' 2"—170 lbs.—Honorary Captain—All Sectional, Regional, Semi-Regional, and State Forward; All Conference Forward—"Slim" will be remembered as a "Tip-in Specialist"! Through hard work and determination, "Slim" developed into one of the finest forwards Huntington has ever had. Another team man deluxe.

BILL BOSTEL—Senior—6' 3"—175 lbs.—All Sectional, Regional, Semi-Regional, and State Center; All Conference Center—"Bones" was a "Dream Man" on the offensive and defensive backboards. He never was out-tipped in his 3 years of varsity ball. He ranks with the best centers Huntington has ever developed. Team man again.

ED WASMUTH—6' 2"—170 lbs.—"Goog" lost his first string job about the middle of the year due to sickness but came back to fill in when the going was tough. Ed is a ball player's ball player. He can "take it" as well as "dish it out." Ed was a great team man.

JOHN GLASSON—Senior—5' 11"—167 lbs.—Johnny finally got started in varsity ball and really was a valuable man during tourney play. He was a swell guy to drop into the game when the going was tough.

GIB GARDNER—Senior—6' 1"—172 lbs.—Gib was another late starter in varsity ball but came through in fine style and was always on the job when the occasion demanded.

DICK HAMMEL—Student Manager—Dick really did an excellent job as student manager. His organization in taking care of and repairing our equipment was the best

Top Row—Wasmuth, Hendricks, Hullinger, Williams, Carnes.

Vikings to the State

Sectional Tournament

The Vikes started out an illustrious month of tournament play by blasting a tough squad from Jefferson, of Whitley County, 51 to 19. They had to extend themselves some to beat a tenacious squad from Monument City 36 to 30, then turned on the power again to roll to an easy 56 to 34 victory over Union's Sharpshooters in the semi-finals. In the finals, the Vikes hit one of the toughest squads to come from the county in many years when they defeated Phil Lahr and his mates from Clear Creek 29 to 25 in a game that was close all the way with the Bulldogs holding a two-point lead at the end of the first quarter. The Vikes did not step out to their margin of victory until the final minutes of play.

Regional Tournament

The Vikes were supposed to entertain three other teams in the regional tournament on March 3, but they were entertained more than anybody else as they stepped out to easy victories over Chester Center in the afternoon, 50 to 29, and over Berne in the night game, 51 to 31, to go to the super-regional tournament at Muncie for the first time in three years.

Super-Regional Tournament (Muncie)

"NORSEMEN ADVANCE TO FINALS" read the headlines for Sunday, May 11, heralding the first time the Vikes had progressed as far as a state contest since the new tournament system was inaugurated. They did it by beating two tough teams, Kokomo and Muncie Central, to whom, before the tournament, the Norse were just a push-over; but, in the words of a Kokomo sports writer, "The Vikings were big, fast, and competent; but above all they had the courage and the will to win the ball game—and they won it."

The Vikes stepped out to a fast lead over the Kats, 11 to 6 at the end of the first quarter and 18 to 12 at the half. In the third period the Kats started to come back, but were still trailing at the end of that period 22 to 19. Shortly after the start of the fourth quarter, the Kats poured in on the Vikings to lead 28 to 24 with three minutes to go.

Musselman sank a free throw and Burkhart got a fielder to make the Norse trail by one point with forty-five seconds to go. At this dramatic moment the "shortest, youngest Vike," as a Muncie paper called Ivan Wilhelm, sophomore, connected from the field to put the Huntington team ahead 29 to 28. Kokomo lost the ball on a scoring attempt, and the Vikes stalled till the game ended.

In the night game the Norse looked as if they had met their match the first half as the Bearcats grabbed a first-quarter lead, 13 to 10, and appeared to be pulling away from the Vikes; but midway in the second quarter, Muncie Central's fans got the shock of their lives as the Vikes, led by Bob Hendricks and Bill Bostel, whose rebounding was perfect all night, roared into a 19 to 16 half-time lead. Not to be outdone, the Bearcats returned to tie the score 25 all at the end of the third period; but from there on, Bob Hendricks had his own way, hitting ten points straight, as the Norse won the game and the right to go to the State tourney, 42 to 37.

State Tournament

Our Vikes received a rip-roaring welcome on Sunday, March 18, as the first Huntington team to participate in the state finals returned home to find their fans disappointed but still loyal, as was demonstrated in a parade with the team riding on a fire truck, and by a two-hour rally in the Community Gym with the band, yell leaders, the mayor, and other civic and school officials taking part.

The reason for the disappointment was that the Vikes had run up against a tough team from Riley, of South Bend, in the afternoon game in Indiana, and had come off the floor on the decidedly short end of a 39 to 28 score, the result of a torrid third quarter which saw the Riley squad pile up a twelve-point lead.

Scyldings

Coach Oscar Naab

The Scyldings, tomorrow's Vikes, will make quite a name for themselves if they continue on the "glory road" down which Coach Oscar Naab set their feet this year.

The group proved themselves very capable of following in the footsteps of their big brothers, the Vikes, by winning 15 games while losing only four, and scoring 487 points to their opponents' 334.

Among these victories are the two games of the annual "B Team" tourney at Wabash, which the Scylds won for the second year straight.

The Scylds were sparked all season by a large group of boys, many of whom were moved up to the varsity before the end of the season.

Freshman Basketball

The freshman basketball squad had an average season, winning three and losing three contests. Their best showings were against the Wabash freshmen, from whom they won two games, and the 8-2 All Stars, whom they defeated, 47 to 12. The frosh lost to freshman teams from Bluffton and Huntington Township, the latter twice.

Under the tutelage of Coach Butt, these first-year boys were given the start that may send them to the Scyldings and eventually to the Vikings as future stars.

Those participating in freshman basketball were as follows: Paul Buzzard, Jerry Hensel, Norman Cozad, Stacey Haines, Robert Truitt, Tom Brumleve, Howard Smith, James Whitacre and Jim Crawford.

H Club

The roughest, toughest club in H. H. S. is reported to be the 'H" Club, made up of major letter winners in each of the three major sports, football, basketball, and track.

The major activity of the club this year was sending news letters to former "H" men in the armed services. The club sends about 75 letters with news pertaining to sports, school activities, and general hometown news every two weeks.

The club's president, Leo Davis, left for the navy in the mid-year, and it is to be hoped that he is profiting from the letters as much as the boys to whom he has helped send letters.

Middle Row—Priddy, Ahner, Glasson, Dimond, Williams, Burkhart, Rohm.

Track

Huntington High's Track squad, with one of the best teams in years, made a fine record in their several meets during the cinder season.

Bill Bostel broke the H. H. S. high jump record with a height of 6 feet. This bettered Ray Overmire's mark which had stood since 1941. Bill also set individual scoring records this year with marks at 17 1-2 and 20 1-2 in the Wabash and Gas City meets. Harold Shultz and Ed Wasmuth were consistent point-getters who aided the Vikings in piling up winning totals in the meets.

Members of the mile relay team included Bostel, Hendricks, Williams, Hawkins, with Ahner doubling with Williams. The half-mile relay team was made up of Priddy, Luce, Shultz, and Wasmuth. Both these groups snared points for the Red and Black.

Track men who won letters by their competition in meets included Bill Bostel Bob Hendricks, Ed Wasmuth, Lyle Ahner and Dick Hammel, seniors; Don Williams, Gene Wogan, Marvin Priddy, juniors; Dick Hawkins, Harold Shultz, Bob Hullinger, Ivan Wilhelm and Gene Stroud, sophomores.

Scores of meets were as follows:

Vikings 59, Wabash 57, Gas City 40½
Vikings 97, Pennville 32, Hartford City 27.
Vikings 37, Marion 72
Vikings 48, Gas City 52
Vikings 45, Peru 61

Girls' Sport and G. A. A.

The officers of the Girls' Athletic Association were Jane Brown, president; Doris Wetters, vice-president; Carolyn Repp, secretary; and Joan Herzog, treasurer. The club initiated about fifteen girls in a lovely candlelight ceremony at the first of the school year. Later the initiates went through the traditional rough initiation in the gym, and the agony of wearing clods to school the next day.

The "H" winners this wear were Margretha Erwin, Marthetta Ervin, Hurleen Feltman, Euanna Thorn, Beverly Bronstein, Mary Lou Bowers, Doris Wetters, and Joan Herzog. The placque winners, the placque being a state award, were Mary Triggs (who earned hers last year), Joanne Hueber, Clara Jane Kennedy, Jane Brown, Susan Hemphill, and Barbara Jones.

Girls sports and tournaments were much in evidence this year. As a bit of the "evidence," we offer you the tennis tournament results. In the upperclassman bouts, doubles winners were Joanne Hueber and Phyllis Knight; and Sally Overman and Marilyn Lofland were runners-up. In the upperclassman singles, Mary Triggs was the champ and Jean Amick, runner-up. In the underclassman singles, Sally Overman was champ and Carol Lamson runner-up. Mary Triggs won the champion of champions match against Sally Overman.

The Huntington High girls' archery team played host to New Haven, Marion, and West Lafayette here in the fall. They also journeyed to Marion for a dual meet and walked away with first place. Nancy Herbst made the highest score of 192 at 20 yards and the National Archer Bar 1st rank at 30 yards. Sara Casey also qualified for an Archer pin at 30 yards. Susan Hemphill took first place in the fall tourney.

Those girls who have passed all six of the national yeoman tests at 15 yards and the bowman tests making 100 or more at 20 yards with one round of arrows are Nancy Herbst, Peggy Fansler, Clara Jane Kennedy, Sara Casey, Doris Miller, Marjorie Marx, Hurleen Feltman, Rosa Lou Paul, Barbara Bowman, Susan Hemphill, Jane Brown, Thelma Collins, Margretha Ervin, Marthetta Ervin, Mona Lou Kettering, Margaret Chenoweth, Donna Johnson and Colleen Diffendorfer.

Back Row—Beverly Bronstein, Marthetta Ervin, Doris Miller, Barbara Jones, Beulah Hemphill, Thelma Collins, Mary Triggs, Clara Jane Kennedy, Euanna Thorn.

Second Row—Sally Overman, Jean Ann Streit, Lois Couch, Donna Crawley, Rosa Lou Paul, Phyllis Knight, Gloria Gelzleichter, Betty Kriegbaum, Nancy Herbst.

Those girls averaging 100 or more per game out of the bowling class of 73 this year are: Margretha Ervin, Helen Martin, Janet Stoutenberry, Margaret Chenoweth, Euanna Thorn, Betty Wiles, Phyllis Williams, Gene Marie Miller, Nancy Paul, Helen Myers, Arlene Funk, and Mona Lou Kettering.

Huntington G. A. A. was host to Kokomo High and Huntington Township in a bowling tournament on April 14. Six teams from Huntington competed. The first place blue ribbon for the winning team went to Marthetta Ervin, Margetha Ervin, Euanna Thorn, Doris Miller, and Janet Stoutenberry. The red ribbons for the second highest team were awarded to Phyllis Williams, Helen Everding, Vivian Schaffer, Gene Marie Miller, and Betty Wiles. The white ribbons for third place were distributed to Helen Myers, Helen Martin, Phyllis Jay, Opal Sturdivant, and Arlene Funk.

Betty Wiles was awarded a blue ribbon as the high series winner with scores of 143, 151, and 171. The ribbon for the highest game was awarded to Yvonne Edwards (Kokomo) 172, Betty Wiles 171, and Gene Marie Miller 168.

The winner in the singles of the girls volleyring tournaments was Barbara Jones, with Joan Herzog as runner-up. The final doubles match was played by Dorothy Sink and Joan Herzog against Joan Morrett and Carolyn Hosler.

The team winner of the volleyring tournament was composed of Pat Burke, Doris Eagleson, Joan Herzog, and Ann Porter. The runner-up team was composed of Carolyn Paul, Doris Wetters, Lois Couch, and Colleen Diffendorfer.

"Those pictures couldn't have walked away!" "Has this been proofed?" "I know I turned that write-up in yesterday!" "Well, this is the 80th time we've changed the dummy." No, this is not an hour in the insane asylum; it's just the "310 madhouse". What is all the confusion about? It's simply the mad scramble of deadlines, last-minute pictures, trips to the printer, and 3 a. m. sessions. Something wonderful must come out of all this; and, sure enough, it does! We proudly present to you the 1945 Modulus as evidence of the hard work of this year's staff.

A "super"thanks to Mr. Day for his words, wisdom, and patience in the compiling of our yearbook. We also take our hats off to Betty Kriegbaum, editor-in-chief, for a really swell job.

Staff members assisting the editors included: Minnette Will, Billie Ann Marquart, Helen Sheppard, Nancy Herbst, Betty Ann Day, Pat Brown, and Jack Glenn. Other staff positions included Nancy Herbst, proof reader; Carolyn Paul and Carolyn Repp, Typists; Dick Morgan and Patty Burke, circulation; and Porter Ayres, bookkeeper.

The job of running around to solicit ads from every cubby-hole in town fell into the laps of the advertising staff. (Without them you wouldn't be reading this corny writeup!) The advertising staff included Pat Williams, manager; and Wanda Wiggins, Peggy Doherty, Nancy Everett, Norman Spotts, and Roy Harsh.

Solicitors from the salesmanship class included the following pupils who worked under the supervision of Mr. Perrigo; Barbara Brown, Virginia Christ, Joan Frye, June Funderburg, Phyllis Gephart, Phyllis Goodmiller, Marcille McHenry, Phyllis Weller, Norman Spotts.

K. B. F.

This honorary organization, "Kiwanis Builds Forever", is named for the Kiwanis Club.

Each year this club presents an award to the 5 percent of the senior class which has maintained the highest grade average throughout the four years in high school. It is the highest scholastic honor a student can attain at Huntington High School.

The following seniors were recognized as K. B. F. members and presented with certificates: Betty Ann Day, Betty Kriegbaum, Joan Humbarger, Joanne Hueber, Patty Burke, Gibson Gardner.

During Senior Week the Kiwanis Club gave a luncheon for these students.

With the highest grade average of the Class of 1945, Betty Ann Day was named valedictorian and responded for the class following the presentation of diplomas at the commencement program. The salutatorian, having the second highest average, was Betty Kriegbaum, who, on behalf of the class, accepted the presentation of the Bibles provided the graduates.

Honor Society

The members of the National Honor Society are chosen on the basis of character, leadership, scholastic record, and participation in varied activities.

To be eligible for this organization, a student must be in the upper 24 percent of his class. After tabulating the votes of the teachers and students, a committee announces the results. Only 15 percent of the seniors and 5 percent of the juniors are finally selected.

This is the highest honor a junior can receive and, recognizing this, the senior members furnish the food for a picnic in their honor during Senior Week.

The graduates who were selected as Senior Honor Society members were: Jane Brown, Patricia Burke, Maurice Copenhaver, Betty Ann Day, Gibson Gardner, Joanne Heuber, Joann Humbarger, Russell Johnson, Clara Jane Kennedy, Betty Kriegbaum, Catherine Morris, Carolyn Repp, Tye Robinson, Mary Triggs, Ilo Van Buskirk, Edmund Wasmuth, Nancy Winebrenner, Edwin Winter, and Bevan Youse.

The Junior Honor Society members for 1945 were: Vivian Brubaker, Janet Eberhart, Nancy Herbst, Richard Morgan, Marvin Priddy, Tom Rohm, and Dean Stephan.

Congratulations should be extended to those deserving students. Membership in these societies exhibits the well-rounded personality of the individual.

Student Council

The Student Council is the President, the Senate, and the Supreme Court of Huntington High School all rolled into one. Meeting with Mr. Johnson as their advisor, they are the ones responsible for making and enforcing new rulings in H. H. S. All monitors in the halls are Student Council members, one representing each home room. The Student Council has worked very effectively this year for the good of every student.

The officers elected to service during the first semester were Gibson Gardner, president; Barbara Jones, vice-president; and Leo Davis, secretary. The second semester Gibson Gardner served as presidnt, Barbara Jones as vice-president, and Eugene Schenkel as secretary.

Following is a list of the home room teachers with the name of the member and alternate for each room. Mrs. Patterson—Rex Yoder, Janet Eberhart; Miss Weiford—Germaine Barnes; Miss Cage—Paul Buzzard, Thais Carl; Mr. Burke—Norman Cozad, Bob Beach; Mr. Naab—Marianne McMillen, Charlotte Rose; Mr. Brown—Joan Fry, Jack Glenn; Miss Jennings—Joan Frye, James Hansen; Miss Alice Kline—Susanne Brown, Mary Lou Patterson; Miss Emma Kline—Ruth Becker, Sue Gilkison.

Booster Club

"See that boy going down the hall with the blue overall jacket on? What is this, the Rural Youth Visitation Day?"

"Well, hardly. That's probably just a member of the Booster Club."

Here's one organization in Huntington High School that is really growing, both in membership and influence. The Booster Club is open to juniors and seniors, and its purpose is well explained by its name. It is the club responsible for decorating the halls before games, giving humorous pep sessions, and conducting bloodcurdling initiations for its new members.

The officers, who are really the ones responsible for the success of any organization, worked hard and effectively this year. With Barbara Jones as president, Mark Weber as vice-president, and Pat Burke as secretary, they've certainly gone places. The Booster Club throughout the year has laid a good foundation on which to build in the future.

Mr. Gerdes acted as Booster Club adviser this year and did a swell job.

Yell Leaders

They're loudmouths, and they're proud of it! Yes, Dick Peppas, Nan Clark, and Phil Monsey have realy given out with the yells this year as well as those bone-breaking acrobatics they go through purely for the sake of . . . well, they must have a reason. Seriously, they've all three done a swell job as our yell leaders for this year; and we're proud of 'em!

Fourth Row—Jim Tobias, Don Carnes, Gibson Gardner, Roy Harsh, Tom Rohm, Bob Bowman, Carlos Kennedy.
Third Row—Roger Kauffman, Joe Burkhart, Don Dimond, Bob McCoy, Tye Robinson, Harold Oden, Bob Morris.

Hi-Y

Under Bruce Gerdes and the gavel-wielding hand of "Morrie" Copenhaver, the Senior Hi-Y enjoyed a highly commendable annum. The other officers which made this possible were Ed Winter, who subbed for Morrie; Russ Johnson, pen pusher; J. C. Carl, who cared for the surplus capital (anyhow, the capital); and Don Diffenbaugh, chaplain.

The activities of the club were many and varied. The social year was begun by the annual hay-ride. As is usual, a dearth of provisions was noted and commented on frequently. Several carloads of boys went down to Richmond (no wise cracks, please) to the State Older Boys Conference which was held there and had a very educational week end. (They also were excused from a whole day of school.)

Junior Hi-Y

Fourth Row—Bill Raub, Sam Kaiser, Gene Gilbert, Bill Jones, Tom Brumleve, Bob Truitt, Don Pinkerton, Bob Best.
Second Row—Jack Overly, Harold Kline, Kenneth Bryan, Bill Florent, Jerry Waikel, Glen Scarborough, Bob Ard, Bob Lee.

You'll probably remember the pair of quintets composed of the more musically talented (it sez here) Hi-Y members who represented our club in the Modulus Varieties. These quintets gave several vocal renditions that left the crowd gasping. (This can be taken in several ways). Ten minutes after their act, the audience was still applauding. (Dick Morgan had just finished his reading.)

At our meetings many speakers were heard and appreciated. Among these were Dr. O. U. King, Lowell Buzzard, Arthur Howard, Mrs. Patterson, Mr. Stephan, Mr. Johnson, and last but not least Mr. Harry Bernell Wi'liams.

Last sectional time that large sign which was located above the scoreboard and displayed the names and numbers of the players was some more of the work of Hi-Y. The annual festivities involving the proud maters and paters and their equally proud offspring were, as usual, quite successful. Another laudable event was the newly instituted "Best Girl Dance," which attracted a nice number of couples to the Country Club.

Several fellows departed from our midst in order to end the war. With Lee Davis, Bob Altman, Harold Riggle, Jim Cozad, Clete Olinger, and Ed Winter on the job, the general concensus is that it can't last much longer.

The Junior Hi-Y lost their first sponsor, Ed Burke, near the first of the year and chose Russell Perrigo to be his successor. Russ capably carried on from the fine start Ed had made.

The junior branch participated in most of the aforementioned activities of the Senior Hi-Y, had their own hay-ride, and scheduled a large number of excellent speakers likewise.

For their contribution to the Modulus Varieties, "Armand d' Suazy" Perrigo was conscrpted to demonstrate his prowess at black magic.

The officers were Art Miller, president; Dick Bonewitz, vice-president; Max McDowll, secretary-treasurer; Don Rusk, program chairman; and Jack Glenn, chaplain.

SUNSHINE OFFICERS

Carolyn Repp, Janet Eberhart, Nancy Herbst, Colleen Diffendorfer, Jane Brown.

SUNSHINE COUNCIL

Back Row—Miss Cage, Minnette Will, Nancy Everett, Kathleen Kelsey, Janet Eberhart, Miss Lush.

Middle Row—Mrs. Branyan, Doris Miller, Colleen Diffendorfer, Mary Triggs, Marilyn Caldwell, Carolyn Repp, Miss Alice Kline.

Front Row—Virginia Zahm, Hattie Short, Marjorie Marx, Nancy Herbst, Jane Brown, Gene Marie Miller.

Sunshine Society

Leading the activities of all the girls of our high school is the Sunshine Society, which has the purpose of spreading sunshine everywhere and has as its motto "Others." Our ever capable but self-effacing sponsor is Miss Alice Kline, and officers for the year 1944-1945 were Carolyn Repp, president; Janet Eberhart, vice-president; Nancy Herbst, recording secretary; Colleen Diffendorfer, corresponding secretary; and Jane Brown, treasurer.

There were seven active committees this year.

The Big and Little Sister Committee opened the school year by immediately helping the freshman girls to get acquainted. The group also gave a tea for the new members and their mothers after the pretty candlelight initiation. The chairman was Kathleen Kelsey and the sponsor, Miss Opal Lush.

Patterettes, the dramatic division of Sunshine, is under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Patterson and the chairman, Mary Triggs. One of the highlights of their year was the Christmas party given at the county infirmary.

The S. S. S. Committee, headed by Hattie Short Besser and advised by Miss Emma Kline, is that group of the society which spreads sunshine by sending a card or rose to students and faculty members who have had a severe illness or some bereavement in the family.

The Sunshine Gales have been quietly and steadily folding bandages to assist the Red Cross. They are in charge of the reknowned Sunshine Easter eggs, the proceeds from the sale of which are contributed to the Riley Fund, and also the distribution of May baskets to faculty members and to the hospital. The sponsor was Miss Hazel Cage and the chairman, Nancy Everett.

The Needlework Guild works with the local and national Needlework Guild. With all her other duties, Miss Alice Kline finds time to advise the committee, working with Gene Marie Miller, chairman.

A new Craft Committee was organized this year under the direction of Miss Geraldine Zahn with Jane Brown as chairman.

The largest committee is M. M. S., the money-raising division. This group sponsors the very popular Sweetheart Dance, held February 17 at the Masonic Temple, and also the famous Peanut Week every spring, which was topped by a tea this year. Miss Sees advised the group. Co-chairmen were Marilyn Caldwell and Marjorie Marx.

The society as a whole sponsored a "Sock Hop" which was quite successful financially.

The Thanksgiving program for the school was given by the Sunshine officers, and the Easter Holy Week services were sponsored by Sunshine in co-operation with Hi-Y, ending Easter morning with the annual sunrise service at the Central Christian Church, at which the speaker was Dr. Elmer Becker, president of Huntington College. All of these services were made lovely with candlelight and the yellow and white colors of the society, and also with music by the sunshine Glee Club.

Biology Club

The Biology Research club, under the skillful co-sponsorship of Miss Zahn and Mr. Butt, had a successful year.

To start the year off right, the neophytes (preceding word supplied through the courtesy of Webster's Unabashed Fictionary) were subjected to a systematic torture, commonly referred to as an informal initiation. This process is a complicated procedure involving a variety of paraphernalia and raw materials such as flour, water, talcum powder, electric chairs, raw eggs, lipstick, rouge, and other assorted cosmetics. The finished products of this aggregation were a real threat to the popularity of such characters as Frankenstein, Dr. Fu Manchu, Mr. Hyde, or even the Wolf Man. In spite of this, no one was crippled; and on the whole casualties were light, considering the circumstances.

The creed of the Bology Club is "Create, maintain, and extend, throughout the school and community, higher standards of biological research"; and this theme was carried out in the meetings under the leadership of Susanne Brown, president; Barbara Jones, vice-president; and Bob McCoy, secretary-treasurer.

Art Club

The Art Club is under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Roush.

The club officers are Barbara Brahs, president; Gretchen Poehler, vice-president; Roy Harsh, secretary; Stanley Pontious, treasurer.

Because of the lack of transportation and fuel, the club has not had many activities. One of the most important of the few activities was a sketching picnic at Warren. The members took their easels, paints, pencils, and palettes with them as their necessary equipment and had a simply glorious afternoon sketching the surrounding scenic beauty.

When Robert Jackson came home from the Army, a party was given in his honor at the home of the president of the club. Pvt. Jackson was an active member in the club before his graduation.

The Art Club has helped in the decoration of the various activities of the school.

Actuariae

The Actuariae Club under the direction of Mrs. Margarette Ness Butz has been very busy. Besides sponsoring the annual "Book Week", during which programs and book reviews were given each morning, the club has had several potluck dinners at the homes of its members and has had several ho'i-day parties. This organization is composed of students who have served as library assistants for one or more terms.

The officers for this year were Pat Brown, president; Vivian Brubaker, vice-president; Ann Porter, secretary; and Richard Morgan, treasurer.

The Actuariae Club has helped the library assistants to become more closely associated with their work and with each other as well as the students of H. H. S. to find the material in the library for which they are looking.

Book-of-the-Month Club

The Book-of-the-Month Club, under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite Butz, has received many interesting books for its 183 members. Approximately 1,270 books were purchased during the year.

Like any other organization it has its officers, as fo'lows: Mary Triggs, president; Richard Morgan, vice-president; Betty Kiefer, secretary; and Barbara Jones, treasurer.

Nancy Herbst served as book se'ection chairman, and reviews of the books selected were presented by the books distributed by Richard Morgan, Carolyn Paul, Jane Emley, and John Kussmaul.

The club had one party in the form of a social. There were eats, dancing, and the feature of the evening, a scavenger hunt.

Band

"Don't Fence Me In," "Zombies," "Dublin Holiday," "Is You Is," "Rumbaland," "Boogie Woogie Band," "Spiritual Rivers," "Meadowlands," "Auditorium Session." Hmmmm! Where am I? Carnegie Hall? Brother, you're watching a typical H. H. S. band program! Yes, they play everything from "A" to Beethoven. And to whom do we give credit to for this wonderful organization? Why, Delmar Weesner, of course! His swell baton waving takes place at every home basketball and football game, not to mention almost every auditorium program.

The state band contest, in which our class B band (that refers to high school enrollment) won first division honors, was held at Central Christian High School in Fort Wayne, April 14. Nine soloists and one ensemble placed seven firsts and two seconds, as follows:

I Division Soloists

Oboe—Mary Lou Bowers—Flute—Steve Carlson and Charlotte Rose.
Tuba—Bill Lauterbach—Snare Drum—Bill Snyder and Neil Markle.
Snare Drum—Bill Snyder and Neil Markle
Flute Quartet—Mary Triggs, Nancy Winebrenner, Steve Carlson and Charlotte Rose.

II Division Soloists

Bassoon—Pat Lamb—Snare Drum—Bill Hurdle and Bob Beach.

Our hearty congratulations to all participants. The band's contest selections were "Meadowlands," "Dublin Holiday," and "Spiritual Rivers."

The annual spring contest was held May 8 in the H. H. S. auditorium. Featured soloists were Mary Lou Bowers, oboe, and the snare drum trio..

We in H. H. S. are fortunate in having as fine a band as ours. We never have to fear that the band might play something that wasn't "good". So, a very low bow we all make to our accomplished band.

Senior Masque and Gavel

The Senior Masque and Gavel is one of the most active organizations of Huntington High. Our officers for the year were Richard Morgan, president; Pat Burke, vice-president; and Mary Triggs, secretary-treasurer.

In the course of a year we have entertained quite a number of groups. We have given six religious programs for the school and performances at six different churches. We have a play, "P. T. A. Pledge," that has been performed six times. "Christmas Gift!" the Christmas play, was also our presentation.

We branched out more this year and had a "Town Hall Meeting" over the air. Nancy Herbst and Roger Kauffman acted as our representatives in the discussion. Our most noted orator, Richard Morgan, went to the finals of the Rotary Contest.

We finished our year with a Junior and Senior Masque and Gavel banquet at the Hotel LaFontaine. During the evening a member of each of the four classes paid tribute to Masque and Gavel and its sponsor, Mrs. Patterson. Richard Morgan also presented his speech on "Peace in the Air Age—Rotary's Opportunity."

The casts for our plays this years were as follows:

"Those Who Live in Glass Houses"—Pat Burke, Roger Kauffman, Nancy Herbst, and Richard Morgan.

"Christmas Gift!"—Nancy Herbst, Roger Kauffman, Betty Kriegbaum, Minnette Will, Carlos Kennedy, and Art Miller.

"Start of P. T. A."—Nancy Paul, Vivian Brubaker, Marjorie Marx, Gloria Gilbreath, Carolyn Diffendorfer, Carolyn Paul, Mary Triggs, Betty Becker, and Betty Ann Day.

"Patterson Dinner"—Minnette Will, Helen Sheppard, Marjorie Marx, Betty Becker, Catherine Morris, and Jane Brown.

"A Cup of Sugar"—Vivian Brubaker, Nancy Paul, Gloria Gilbreath, and Carolyn Paul.

"Grandmother Nick"—Art Miller, Richard Morgan, Roger Kauffman, Mary Triggs, Betty Ann Day, and Nancy Herbst.

Fourth Row—Helen Fahl, Barbara Coates, Ruth Bucker, Alice Schoeff, Jean Markle, Peggy Williams, Barbara Rusler, Virginia Zahm, Betty Day.
Third Row—Helen Brennan, Marjorie Castleman, Wanda Johnson, Doris Wetters, Carla Lou Cassady, Virginia Wilburn, Gene Gilbert, John Paul.
First Row—Patty Fling, Rose MacMurray, Colleen Diffendorfer, Paul Sheppard, Barbara Alexander, Betty Weinley.

Junior Masque and Gavel

To prepare for membership in Senior Masque and Gavel, the freshmen and sophomores have a club of their own with the purpose of an introduction to general speech work. In their meetings they hold discussions and give speeches. Once a week the ambitious members broadcast the announcements to the school over the sound system.

For their stint in the Modulus Varieties, they presented the pantomime of a Thanksgiving story. It was really clever.

The Junior Masque and Gavel officers were Paul Sheppard, president; Lois Stonebraker, vice-president; Pat Browne, secretary. To lead this group, Mrs. Patterson acted as sponsor; and Betty Ann Day assisted as the Senior Masque and Gavel adviser.

Second Row—Gilbert, Buzzard, Waikel, Florent, Jones, Smith, Best.

Choir

The choir is under the successful direction of Mrs. Vivian Branyan. The choir is composed of the singers of the high school. Here there is no class distinction in the choir. The freshman have just as good a chance of singing bass as the seniors do.

The choir sang for many civic activities. They had the privilege of singing in the combined chorus at the Northeast Indiana Teachers Association convention at Fort Wayne. They sang at the principal-superintendant sectional meeting.

They sang in the halls before the Christmas vacation and added to the Christmas spirit of the season.

They sang as their part in the Modulus Varieties and for Pan-American Day program.

Boys' Civic Glee Club

The Boys' Civic Glee Club, a new organization in Huntington High School this year, was founded from an idea that Mr. Gordon had had for a long time, that of giving boys a chance to sing the songs they enjoy to sing for the pure fun of singing together.

The club organized with the following officers: Tye Robinson, president; Steve Carlson, vice-president; Darwin Whitted, secretary-treasurer.

Through Mrs. Branyan's efforts in rehearsing with them, the club prepared several selections which they gave in public at various occasions during the year. At the annual Easter Sunrise Service, the boys sang two numbers, and during the Pan-American program sang several selections.

With more than thirty-five members who give up their library periods to rehearse, the club has met an interest of the pupils, and it promises to have a bright future ahead.

Audio-Visual Operators

To get out of study periods may seem to be the chief incentive to boys to become operators of equipment in the Audio-Visual department, but the work is a definite service to the school and offers to the boys training in the operation of various types of equipment and in assuming responsibility.

The most notable advance in the work of the department this year was the establishment of Room 211 as an audio-visual room in which pictures were shown to class groups. Considerable improvement was found to result in the effectiveness of the work.

Another innovation was the setting up standards for operators by which they were classified as master operators; first, second, and third class operators. The distinctions were in the items of length of service and knowledge of various types of equipment.

Completing four years of service in the department, Jack Miller contributed a great deal of effort in improving the apparatus of the school, making use of the knowledge he has gained in his hobby of electronics. Designated as the first master operator and serving as chief operator, Jack redesigned the studio sound panel, helped install more effective speakers in the auditorium, booth and the audio-visual room.

Carlos Kennedy qualified as the other master operator and aided Miller in the installation of the various improvements. Kennedy also designed and constructed a projector stand for the booth.

Awards were given the senior operators, as follows: Lyle Ahner, Maurice Copenhaver, J. C. Carl, and Bob McCoy. A special medal was given Jack Miller.

Classifications of operators included the following:

Chief Operator—Jack Miller

Master Operator—Carlos Kennedy

Second Class Operators—Lyle Ahner, J. C. Carl, Maurice Copenhaver, Bob McCoy, Steve Carlson, Jack Glenn, Harold Thompson, Gene Vollmar.

Third Class Operators—Bill Raub, Jack Cofield, Jim Lewis, Tom Karns, Bill Newell, John Glenn.

Miss Modulus of 1945

Barbara Huser

Barbara Huser earned the title of Miss Modulus of 1945 and also earned the space for this article about her.

Barbara, (can't we call her Husie? You all know her) has always been active around H. H. S. and community. She is a typical girl. When she's not singing (you needn't listen while she is), she's dancing—(and if you happen to be a little slow on the toe it might help if you watched her); and if she isn't dancing, she's laughing. What I'm trying to say is she's got pep and not the kind that comes in packages at the grocery store.

The following is an attempt to describe a typical day with Husie:

Seventy-thirty finds our heroine's mother softly calling her daughter to get up; dear H. H. S. desires her presence. Dragging herself cheerfully from her bed, Barbara immdiately gets ready for school. (Perhaps we are taking a lot for granted; maybe she should be asked.)

After a hearty breakfast consisting of a glass of orange juice, our girl of the day dashes to school, which is approximately 376 steps from her home. Husie joins her best friend Susie Brown on the school steps, and together they go to their lockers.

Between classes Husie stops to see what's news on the bulletin board and to confer with friends. She also gets some visiting done in English Lit. class before Miss Cage raps for order.

Eleven-thirty finally ticks around, and our subject returns to 930 Warren Street to indulge in invigorating vitamins to keep her hip, I mean hep. Having a few minutes to spare, Barbara retires to the den to look over last year's Modulus (plug) and speculate on '45.

Having made her required credits in H. H. S, Husie is entitled to privileges; so she spends her afternoons slaving (?) away at the Y. By the way, Miss Huser was recently elected president of the Swing Inn board of directors.

As for her evenings, Barbara, if the season permits, attends the ball games, and gets quite enthused as our photographer's shot shows. (She'll shoot us for printing that picture.) Later, with training over, evenings find her stepping out with Ed "Goog" Wasmuth.

Hoping the above gives you some idea of Miss Modulus, a word also should be said concerning her work for the Modulus Varieties. By selling the most tickets for the show, she earned this title, and also the honor of being the first to have been named such The program was the first attempt of its kind to be tried, an unrehearsed show consisting of numbers sponsored by the organizations of H. H. S.

It was a success and much credit is due to Husie who made it possible.

Modulus Varities

As a new venture in high school activities, and a means by which each organization could contribute to the financial support of the Modulus, the Modulus Varieties was staged November 29 and 30. Each organization in school was responsible for the presentation of a separate act, and the various acts were combined in a well-organized stage show with Betty Ann Day acting as mistress of ceremonies.

Tickets were sold in advance under the leadership of senior girls as nominees for the title of Miss Modulus of 1945: Barbara Huser, Juanita Wilson and Betty Williams Miller. Because of the success of these ticket sellers, the show had to be given two nights, an indication of its appeal to the public. With the type of entertainment that was presented, the activity made itself a definite part of the school program, which can well be repeated year after year.

The acts sponsored by the various organizations of the school were as follows:

SUNSHINE SOCIETY—"Mandy Minstrels," directed by Miss Geraldine Zahn. Mandy, Carolyne Petrucelle; Timmy, Barbara Huser; Sunshine, Jean Ann Amick; Eucalyptus, Beverly Richardson; Sam, Barbara Jones; Pedestrian, Ann Porter; Bride, Asthma, Colleen Diffendorfer; Bridgroom, Milkweed, Minnette Will. Curtain Chorus: Nancy Herbst, Billie Marquart, Charlotte Rahn, Janet Ebehart, Carolyn Diffendorfer, Barbara Brahs, Phyllis Stover, Beverly Bronstein, Dance Chorus: Pat Burke, June Richwine, Phyllis Knight, Carol Lamson, Juanita Wilson, Doris Miller, Vivian Brubaker, Marilyn Caldwell, Helen Sheppard, Naomi Wilson, Pat Sult, Betty Williams; Mrs. Margaret Ware, director. Minstrel Chorus: Joan Herzog, Jean Markle, Doris Wetters, Betty Becker, Kathleen Kelsey, Betty Thrift, Barbara Zeigler, Helen Brennen, Carolyn Repp, Nancy Paul, Wanda Wiggins, Lurabelle Passwater, Mary Lou Bowers, Marjorie Marx, Barbara Miller, Jane Emley, Norma Bowman, Gweneth Swaidner. Accompanist: Betty Kriegbaum, Evelyn Hammel. Costumes: Mona Lou Kettering, Marilyn Weinley, Nancy Everett. Stage: Mary Triggs, Jane Brown, Joyce Ann Abrams, and Art Department. Stage hands: J. C. Carl, Bob Bowman.

H CLUB—Railroad Quartet: Bob Luce, Rex Roush, Gene Wogan, Ed Herran, Harold Thompson.

Senior Play

The house lights dim, the footlights go on, the orchestra starts its overture,—wait a minute, there isn't any orchestra! Oh, well, I guess we can get along without it. The curtain rolls back to the clash of roaring thunder and the flash of blinding lightning. The wind is howling, and your teeth are chattering so hard that you wonder why in the name of the bad weather you came; but you've paid good money for a ticket, so you get out your pop corn, convertible footstool, and a good book, just in case, and the story of Creepy Castle unfolds before your very eyes!

Someone is knocking loudly at the door of Creepy Castle. Bridget (Betty Kriegbaum), the Irish housekeeper for the very late Jason Pike, seems to be the only inhabitant. After putting out the cat (she might have wound the clock for all we know), she admits the intruders, who turned out to be Kim Waller (Tye Robinson), heir to Jason Pike, and his side kick, Tommy Upton (Jim Carroll, to you).

Next to arrive is Miss Marila "Pickle Puss" (Jane Ann Emley) Dalhart, accompanied by her niece Diana (Carolyn Repp) Dalhart. They, too, are heirs. In between arrivals the ghosts of the family are putting on review, much to the distress of the visitors.

Next to enter are two new Negro servants, Gus (Joe Murdock) and Peachie (Marilyn Caldwell). With them is the lawyer, Levi Hackett (Russell Johnson). Arriving last, but definitely not least, are Mrs. Kitty "Pea Pode" Pike (Joanne Hueber) and her baby-talking daughter, Iona (Pat Burke).

After everyone has arrived, things really start happening. A typewriter types by itself (no, not this one), a picture starts to sob real salt tears, and two ghosts make their appearance in the persons of Barbara Huser and Lyle Ahner. Into the scene then creeps a mysterious character, Otto Swartz, a truck gardener, (Morrie Copenhaver). Since he looks very suspicious, he is, of course, quite innocent.

(Note: The book with hands attached that you see wandering around backstage is the property of Miss Geraldine Zahn, the wonderful director of the play).

Finally a precious (?) stone comes up missing, the rest of the plot unfolds, and the surprise ending is known to all. If you don't remember it, then you didn't see it; so we won't sympathize and tell you. So there, too!

Moral: Don't look now, but you might die laughing.

In case you couldn't follow this plot, here again is the cast:

Bridget Mullquoon - - - - - Betty Kriegbaum
Kim Waller - - - - - - - - - Tye Robinson
Tommy Upton - - - - - - - - - Jim Carroll
Levi Hackett - - - - - - - - Russell Johnson
Augustus Caesar Jones - - - - - Joe Murdock

SWING INN

To provide for the leisure time of pupils outside of school hours, the Y. M. C. A. has provided accommodations, and Ed Sunley, general secretary, has furnished the leadership in developing the Swing Inn. Offering a place where high school groups can gather and dance without the intrusion of adults, the Swing Inn has proved a popular place every Friday and Saturday nights.

To make it their very own, high school pupils have helped in managing its conduct through rules made by the board of directors, composed of pupils, and others have taken an active part in assisting with the decorating of the new rooms in the basement of the Y.

"Ed", as everyone calls him, has had the untiring help of his "better half", Mamie, and "Cleo" (Casper) and "George" (Young) have helped manage traffic on the regularly crowded weekends. H. H. S. pupils will always remember these friendly folks when they think of their high school days.

Top Right—Cleo Casper.

Middle Left—Group working on Murals for Swing Inn Room—Gene Beemer, Caroline Reed, Stanley Pontious, Gibson Gardner, Pat Williams, Barbara Brahs, Jean Leonhardt, Phyllis Stover, Gretchen Pohler.

Middle Right—Mamie and Ed Sunley.

Bottom—Swing Inn dancing.

Diary

Betty "Editor-in-chief" Kriegbaum picked me out of 700 students to be the unlucky one to write the diary for 1945. I accepted the good (?) news; so here it is. H. H. S. really writes her own diary; so I'll just sort of act as secretary and write it down for her. I'm not responsible from here on.

September

September 5—Enrollment Day at H. H. S. We all signed up for another year of—(You name it). The teachers had a meeting today, planned strategy for the coming school year, no doubt!

September 6—The line forms to the right. Yes, today we rent books, fill our lockers, and empty our pocketbooks.

September 7—Filled out temporary enrollment cards today. These are used to keep track of "wandering and bewildered freshies" and "carefree and cocky seniors."

September 8—This is the last day of school, for this week of course! Tired already? We started the football season out right tonight, beating Marion 7 to 6. I predict a good season. How about you?

September 11—The senior class organized today. The halls are still being cluttered up this week with wide eyed strangers, (freshmen to you) gazing fondly at their upperclassman heroes.

September 12—The junior class, not believing in third term candidates, elected brand new officers today.

September 13—First 'guidance" program this morning at 8:15. After a few weeks, we will get used to the Wednesday morning schedule. It is a shame to waste those last five minutes sitting with your books shut.

September 14—Permanent enrollment was taken today. Doesn't the office realize that we get writer's cramps filling out the numerous blanks? Also, are all those copies necessary? You know there is a paper shortage!

September 15—G. A. A. held its first meeting today and made plans for an overnight hike. Tonight, by a combination of snake hipping, passes, punts, poundings, pass snarling, and play calling, the Vikings defeated Central Catholic (Fort Wayne) by a score of 13 to 0.

September 18—The sophomores started the week by electing class officers. The boys really 'took over" this election.

September 19—Freshmen organized this morning. They were in need of some kind of organization. It isn't taking this year's frosh nearly so long as usual to learn WHERE and WHEN they are supposed to go.

September 20—G. A. A. hike was postponed today. Big and Little 'Sis" had a meeting today. A lot of girls made new friends at these meetings. (That is why you never hear what is going on). Plans were made for a picnic.

September 21—A Sunshine meeting was held today at 11. Different clubs were discussed. There was a party for all city teachers in the gym tonight.

September 22—Book-of-the-Month Club met today. The girls' softball team played Union Township's team here. The Vikes broke the jinx with the Tigers of Wabash tonight, beating them 12 to 6.

September 25—My, how time flies—Today starts the fourth week of school. The Art Club had a party tonight in honor of Bob Jackson, a former member of the club, now a member of Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

September 26—M. M. S. held a meeting today in the auditorium. The teachers, deciding we looked to happy, pulled a 'Simon Legree" on us. More lessons !!

September 27—G. A. A. finally had the overnight hike tonight. The freshman tea was held after school today. Several of their parents came to school to give old H. H. S. the once-over. Not bad, is it?

September 28—"Hello, Maggie." Step right up to the chalk line and show your "buckies." You guessed it! Modulus pictures today.

September 29—Auditorium program today. John Sowerwine played the piano. He also played a duet with Mary Ellen Schmalzried. The Vikes were victorious again today; this time their victim was Central of Fort Wayne.

Diary

October

October 2—We have now entered the month of October ushered in by rain. Senior Masque and Gavel tonight (some people actually believe that they wear masques, but really it's their own faces.) All Sunshine Gales and those interested met at 4 o'clock (too bad the meeting wasn't during school hours).

October 3—Junior Hi-Y initiation of new members. I hear they wash their hair in eggs. Try it sometime, girls. It brings out that hidden hair lustre. Mr. Bingham gave an interesting talk to the seniors on "Life Studies after Graduation" and other various subjects.

October 4—Buzz is back and was speaker at Senior Hi-Y. He sure looks snappy, and naturally all the girls are swooning (too bad he's married). Do your Christmas shopping early. You only have 81 more days until Christmas.

October 5—Acturiae meeting at 3:30. They are going to put on a program soon for the student body and faculty. S. S. S. (I wish I was a code detector) meeting at 4 o'clock. Outside of meetings, nothing new except school, of course.

October 6—Pep Session at 2:30 today to get groovy for the game tonight. The seniors yelled the loudest, and I thought they were supposed to be dignified. Warsaw sadly went home defeated 12-6.

October 9—Two color films were shown to biology and health students. Other students had no excuse to cut classes. Buy defense stamps.

October 10—A religious program was given by the Masque and Gavel and incidentally it was very good. The Acturiae Club had a potluck at the home of Mrs. Butz (members of that club even get tot eat, yum!) The freshies were beaten by Marion. Better luck next time.

October 11—Another program! This time it was on fire prevention. Members of the student body were quizzed on the subject. Results? We don't talk about that. Biology meeting at 3:30 (they have even got ants in their pants). Weather? Rather chilly I'd say. But then, who asked me?

October 12—Today is Columbus Day. Just think, if it hadn't been for him, we wouldn't have this lovely (?) school. (Sad, isn't it?) De Molay meeting again. Don't they ever give up?

October 13—Friday the 13th. Due to a superstitious belief, this day is supposed to be unlucky. Pep session at 3:30. P. S. From now on I'm superstitious because the Vikes were defeated for the first time this season by North Side 18-12.

October 16—Booster Club met at 3:30 P. M. Their job is to boost the team (as if the Vikes need boosting). The DeMolays took their "one (!?) and only" to the hayride tonight.

October 17—Freshman game with Wabash tonight. C. A. P. C. (for information, Civil Air Patrol Corps) held a meeting tonight at 7:30. Now I ask you, how can you hold a meeting?? Give to the Red Cross.

October 18—A humorous skit was given by the Acturiae Club. Those participating were Betty Kiefer, Dick Morgan, Steve Carlson, Roger Kauffman, Reign Shipley, Jack Young, Pat Sult, Ann Porter, Vivian Brubaker, Jean Ann Leonhardt, Nadine Gilbert, and Helen Fahl. See, I told you they were going to give a program, but you didn't believe me, did you? G. A. A. meeting at 3:40.

October 19—Sunshine formal initiation today at 3:30 with a tea following it. Where there's food, there's girls. Modulus pictures were received today. Remarks were heard to this effect: "Gee, do I really look like that, or is it just a mirage? What those poor cameras don't go through. No wonder they break."

October 20—WANTED: more juniors to sell candy at the games. Apply in person in the auditorium at 3:30. Huntington vs. Elwood tonight at 7:45 P. M. Victory for the Vikes 37-0. P. S. That was a conference game too.

October 23—Better get your report card in or you'll be sorry. Penalty—one cut in citizenship. Don't forget to subscribe to the better-than-ever 1945 Modulus. (Now the advertising staff has even started me advertising).

October 24—A film was shown today for history classes entitled "Teddy the Rough Rider." CHARGE. Oh excuse me I must have been thinking of the show "Arsenic and Old Lace." Teddy Roosevelt was portrayed in it also, in an odd sort of way.

October 25—This morning we had our regular Wednesday morning program, which was on the subject of democracy. Mr. and Mrs. George Washington were portrayed by Roger Kauffman and Nancy Herbst. Opinions on democracy were given by Pat Brown representing Miss Ellis's class, Bevan Youse representing the class of Miss Zahn, Leo Davis the class of Mr. Johnson, Dick Bonewitz the class of Mr. Weesner, and Marvin Priddy the class of Miss Lush. Vikes defeated Bluffton 19-12. We're just too good for them.

October 26-27—No school due to teacher's convention. Students display disappointed (?) faces.

October 30—Monday, already ?!? Boy, that vacation flew by. I wonder if the teachers are any smarter. Booster club had a meeting at 11:25. All boo-stirers are asked to attend. The De Molays had their masqued ball tonight.

October 31—It's hallo-o-oween, or at least so we were told this morning when we listened to the adventurers of Rastus and Celestine over the sound system. The M. M. S. meeting was held at 3:45 in the auditorium. The month of October is now ended. Students have two months to their credit and seven more to go.

Diary

November

November 1—October has ended, which can only be followed by November. Members of the M. M. S. gave a skit. Those who took part were Joyce Garber, Betty Kriegbaum, Nancy Herbst, Katie Hummer, Nan Clark, Audrey Neher, and Peggy Doherty. Senior Hi-Y meets tonight as usual.

November 2—A graph showing temperatures was placed on the bulletin board. Consult this for the latest weather forecasts. Seniors are urged to get their pictures taken for the Modulus. Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today (of course, no one ever does?!)

November 3—"Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Get your pencils with the 1944-45 basketball schedule on them. Price only 5c (no slugs accepted)." At the pep session the new Boosters gave a skit as part of their initiation. The football game, or should I say mud game, was held to see which team could sling the most dirt. Peru seemed to have the edge 7-0. This was, of course, due to the weather. Vikes are still C. I. C. champs, even though defeated. Nice going, Vikes.

November 6—Blue Monday! All kidding aside, we really like school but just hate to admit it. Dancing lessons are going to be given to those interested in learning. I wonder if they will learn to dance or just how to swing and sway with Sammy Kaye.

November 7—Mr. Brown was speaker at Jr. Hi-Y. The Book-of-the-Month Club held its monthly meeting. Mrs. Butz was, as usual, rushed to death (she looks like a pretty live corpse to me). The wooden block from 303 has disappeared. I tell you they lose everything in this school. Religious meeting.

November 8—It may be Wednesday, but we didn't have a guidance program because of yesterday's program. Disappointed faces were seen throughout the halls.

November 9—What's this I hear about a Mandy Minstrel? I was just informed that this act will be given by the Sunshine organization in the big show sponsored by the Modulus. Buy your tickets from your favorite 1945 Modulus Queen Nominee. 'Henry Aldrich for President." He hasn't got a chance with Roosevelt in there. Back to the subject of show. It costs 15 cents this year instead of 10. (Tax, you know).

November 10—We had an Armistice Day program today. A veteran of World War 1 and a veteran of World War II were the speakers. First period was omitted. Gee! Were students ever sad.

November 13—I hear that Art "Frankie Sinatra" Miller is going to sing on the Modulus Varieties show. They say he is a perfect imitation of the swooner-crooner; but as you all know, we demand "All or Nothing at All."

November 14—Dick Morgan gave a very interesting account of the adventures of Awol, one of Uncle Sam's war dogs. This was given as a tribute to book week. All the meetings were at ten o'clock today—activity period, you know.

November 15—The Actuariae Club held a tea at four o'clock. Don't you wish you were a member? The initiation committee for the Booster Club met today at 10 o'clock. Those new members don't know what they're in for. Vernon T. Pinkerton was the speaker at Hi-Y tonight. He has just returned from the South Pacific.

November 16—Giovanni Sperandoe and his wife performed for the high school. For a man with one arm and a hand missing, he is certainly a genius. I am sure you will all agree. That's all for today.

November 17—A skit was given over the sound system on book-week by the members of the Actuariae. The school was introduced to quite a few characters. No, not again! Yes, I'm afraid the Booster initiation committee had another meeting. I'll bet those new members are sitting on pins and needles, and I don't blame them.

November 20—What! No meetings, no programs, no shortened classes, no nothing, just plain school? Exciting, isn't it?

November 21—Today students were notified of the approaching arithmetic test. Happy thought, isn't it? Huntington played its first basketball game of the season at Warren. Naturally, we won 38-20. "Herm" Hendricks made 20 of the points. Nice going, "Herm"!

November 22—All meetings were called off because of holiday season. We had a Thanksgiving program given by the Sunshine Society. The Sunshine officers participated in the program. Goodbye, and have a nice vacation.

November 23-24—Vacation.

November 27—By the look on the students' faces, everyone looks as if he had an enjoyable but tiring vacation (parties, maybe). It's rather hard to get back in the grove; and we didn't have any meetings either, just the same good (?) old classes.

November 28—Today is the day for the lovely and enjoyable arithmetic test?! Well . . . test, shall we say? It is also the day for the matinee of the Modulus Varieties show, which seemed to go over with a bang. The Modulus has no more worries. (That's what you thing).

November 29—There is a meeting of the junior candy sellers. Gee, just think, we get to eat at the basketball games, too. That is too good to be true. They finally announced the 1945 Modulus Queen, who is none other . . . none other than . . . read on a little further; you're coming to it. It happens to be Barbara Huser. Congratulations, Barbara, and also to all the other contestants who helped to put over the Modulus show. Report cards today!!! Boy, is that a let down to the former news!

November 30—The DeMolay held its regular meeting tonight at 6:45; other than that the day was uneventful.

Diary

December

December 1—The Senior Masque and Gavel gave an interesting newscast on the life of George Gershwin, the great American song writer and composer. The Vikes played their first home game. It was also their first defeat. Wabash won 39-45. Nice game anyway, Vikes.

December 4—Senior Masque and Gavel informal initiation tonight. Too bad for the new members because Marilyn Caldwell is chairman of the initiation committee. Better get your report cards in, or you'll get your citizenship cut. Now you wouldn't want that to happen?!?

December 5—The Senior Masque and Gavel gave a very nice religious program. The theme was on Christmas carols. We just can't get rid of that Mandy Minstrel Show, even though the show is over. They keep having meetings. (I wonder who turned black in the face now).

December 6—The Junior Masque and Gavel held its regular meeting. Naturally Senior Hi-Y met since it is Wednesday. The Book-of-the-Month Club got together in the auditorium at 2:30 to pass out the books to all book fiends. Hundreds of meetings. No wonder I go nuts.

December 7—That Book-of-the-Month Club certainly robs you of your money and right before Christmas too. Say, by the way, there are only nine more shopping days until Christmas. Don't forget to do your Xmas shoplifting early! Today is the third anniversary of Pearl Harbor, and we are on our sixth war loan drive. Be an American and buy more bonds and stamps. That is the least we can do.

December 8—Ah, today is a happy day for all because we have a pay-movie entitled "The Biscuit Eater." Of course, all students attended. Who on earth would take school to a show? We had a pep session, and Harry Bernell Williams gave a pep talk; however, Barbara Jones tried to steal the limelight by her graceful (?) fall before the audience. How about that, Barb? The Vikes lost the game, regardless of the pep session, to Rochester 38-20.

December 11—The Modulus advertising staff is really on the beam. They are poets when it comes to announcements. Witty kiddies. Hundreds of lost and found announcements. The students in this high school are certainly forgetful. Now where did I put that $100 bill? Oh well, it's not important.

December 12—Mr. Johnson was the speaker at Jr. Hi-Y tonight. The Actuariae Club had a potluck. That's the kind of meeting that is popular with the public. The total for the bond sales is $1,486.76. Keep on buying; our boys are still fighting.

December 13—Thank heaven it isn't Friday. The Masque and Gavel gave a very, very clever one act play entitled "Those Who Live in Glass Houses." The players were Pat Burke, Nancy Herbst, Roger Kauffman, and Dick Morgan. Students enjoyed it immensely.

December 14—Another dull day; only today was a little duller because there were no meetings, shows, etc. Just one of them there bad days! (Tsk! Tsk! Jennie B. will disown me).

December 15—Ah! Something to brighten up the morning. We had a very entertaining newscast, given by the Masque and Gavel, on the life of Mark Twain. The sound effects were exceptionally realistic. Hunting beat Peru 32-25. At last we're out of our rut.

December 18—The Senior Masque and Gavel held its meeting at 7 o'clock, and the program was of a Christmas nature. (I wonder why.) Don't forget that the fifth period library science class meets today. Now I ask you, who would ever harbor the thought of forgetting it?

December 19—Do you have that empty feeling during school hours? If so, try one of those super-duper, off the cuff candy bars. Of course, they're MP's. (Modulus products). The Sunshine meeting was held at 2:30 with the Sunshine Glee Club furnishing the music. Huntington is back in the rut again. They were defeated by Bluffton 37-26. The Scyldings won their game 30-17. How could they miss with hot-lips Rohm in there? He was really burning up the woodwork. Well, that's the fuel shortage for you.

December 20—We saw another film on the sixth war loan drive. It certainly gets one to thinking. Instead of spending a quarter for a sundae, we invest it in war stamps.

December 21—Another school day consisting of 6 hours and 10 minutes of drudgery.

December 22—It has finally come! Today we are dismissed from good old school for Christmas vacation. We had a very entertaining program this morning presented by the Masque and Gavel; the play: "Christmas Gift!"; the players: Nancy Herbst, Betty Kriegbaum, Foger Kauffman, Art Miller, Minnette Will, Marilyn Caldwell, and Carlos Kennedy. Huntington defeated Berne (the team's Xmas present to the student body) 51-40. That's a swell way to start vacation. MERRY CHRISTMAS, everybody!!

Diary

January

January 2—Well, here we are back in school again. (Tough situation). Everyone seems to be happy New Year. Could it be those gay parties? By the way, the Vikes lost the 4-way tourney. South Side took all the honors.

January 3—The Jr. Masque and Gavel and the Sr. Hi-Y are both back in the groove. They held their regular meetings today. I wonder if all the students are back in the grove as far as lessons go. Now that is a $64 question.

January 4—All girls who are interested are to try out for the senior play. I hear there were 26 girls out for it. Everyone seems to be griping about some sort of essay. I wonder why?!!

January 5—All boys who are interested are to try out for the senior play. Only 12 boys went out for it, so I hear. The Vikes played Burris Muncie in a very exciting game; however, Burris won by one point. The Vikes just can't sem to break that home-town jinx. Better luck next time.

January 8—Sr. Masque and Gavel meeting tonight at 7. Are you geting enough vitamins or body building dextrose? If not try one of the delicious candy bars sold in the Modulus room, 310. They work wonders if you present them to teachers Remember this is the last week of the semester. Now who would ever think of apple-polishing the teacher?

January 9—Have you paid you're library fine? That's what I thought. It must be paid before you can get your report card (who wants report cards anyway). Jr. Hi-Y meeting to plan for a basketball team.

January 10—Lost, $1. If found, return to Phyllis Knight. Is she kiddin'? B. Y. M. N., B. Y. M. N. (Buy your Modulus now). You'd think they were cigarette salesmen!

January 11—School in the morning only. The senior play cast met in room 309 at 8:15. I guess we will have a senior play after all this year.

January 12—No school, but don't get excited; your luck won't hold out, because today is report card day.

January 15—Today starts the new semester. The new 1-1's were welcomed by the renting of books with the promise of hard labor ahead. What a welcome. All kidding aside, you'll really learn to love and appreciate old H. H. S, especially after you've been here for four years.

January 16—Today is the day after the fifteenth of January in the year 1945. I just thought I'd let you know.

January 17—We witnessed a safety picture this morning for the guidance program. Students will be more cautious after viewing the picture?!!

January 18—Temporary enrollment was taken this morning. Everyone suffered from writer's cramp.

January 19—Huntington defeated South Side 35-33 in a very exciting game. South Side was really stunned by their defeat. I guess they didn't realize how good the Vikes really are, but they sure know it now.

January 22--Senior Masque and Gavel meeting at 3:30. Senior play practice from 7 to 9.

January 23—We had our monthly religious program today. During these times students' thoughts run more along this line. The pep session this afternoon at 3:30 was in charge of the Booster Club. They gave a skit The Vikes defeated Clear Creek "Farmers" 37-21.

January 24—Today permanent enrollment was taken. We are now drafted for the rest of the year.

January 25—Let us not forget the "March of Dimes." Contribute today. C. A. P. had its meeting at 7 o'clock this evening.

January 26—Some people still have a "W" on their report card from last semester. What on earth are they doing this semester?

January 29—Modulus pictures were taken today, or should I say retaken. The photographer was, as usual, calling everyone Hazel.

January 30—Teachers meeting at 4 p. m. Even the teachers have a meeting once in a while. Tonight the Vikes played the Marion "Giants". However, they weren't big enough to defeat us. Vikes were victorious 54-44. That was our sixth straight win.

January 31—This morning the guidance program was in charge of the music division. We had group singing, or should I say yelling?! We had a very special program this afternoon. WOWO conducted its town meeting of the air here in Huntington. The subject was "Federal Regulation of Labor Unions." Nancy Herbst and Roger Kauffman, together with two Northside students, discussed this subject. It was rebroadcast over WOWO the following day at 2:30 P. M.

February

February 1—Ah! This is the month when young girls' thoughts turn toward the Sweetheart Dance. The problem usually is "Whom shall I take?" The problem this year is "Who is there left to take?!?"

February 2—The Vikes traveled to Fort Wayne to tussle with Central. It was a very close game, but Huntington just couldn't seem to win. The score was 47-45, our first defeat in seven games. The committee for the Sock Hop had a meeting today. Suppose they're getting cold feet about something.

February 5—The ticket committee for the Sweetheart Dance held a meeting at 11:15 a. m. I hear the tickets are $2.16. They must think we're millionaires. Now I ask you, is any boy worth that much? These days, am I joking?

February 6—The Booster Club finally met at 11 o'clock. Certain subjects were discussed, or should I say cussed? Sunshine initiation was held this afternoon. The ceremony was really beautiful. Vikes received their second recent defeat from Plymouth 55-40.

February 7—Only ten more asking days until the Sweetheart Dance. Better get busy, girls. No guidance program because the film failed to arive. Well, the film finally got here; so we got to see the show sixth period, after all: "Charm and Personality Plus Character." We were then dismissed for the afternoon. On to the Y.

February 8—Dull day with nothing unusual happening.

February 9—Pep session at 11 o'clock. A new yell was introduced. Coaoch Williams gave a talk . . . or rather a lecture. Vikes naturally defeated Alexandria 51-49. After the game there was a Sock Hop, which is something new in H. H. S. Shall we say it was—different? The odor was also very distinct.

February 12—Today is Lincoln's birthday. We all remember and pay tribute to a truly great man who brought our nation through a crisis. I knew someone would lose his shoes at that dance. Harry Townsley was the sad lad who found his missing.

February 13—The student council got together at 11 o'clock. I wonder who is boss around here, students or teachers?! That is a big joke. A skit was given over the sound system on the Sweetheart Dance. Better hook your "one and only," girls. You know, that big handsome (?) brute. There was an auditorium program this afternoon. Lawrence Merriweather sang a few selections. General opinion: very good!

February 14—Will you be my valentine? Yes, today is the day dedicated to St. Valentine. Mr. Plasterer honored the student body by giving a talk and deminstration for the regular Wednesday guidance program.

February 15—Don't forget to buy your ticket for the Sweetheart Dance. After all you have to have a ticket. (That is one of the two things you must have.) The dance is only two days off. Hurry, hurry, hurry!

February 16—The seniors voted for their motto, colors, and flowers. Boy's Civic Glee Club held one of its numerous meetings. Tonight the Vikes played their last game of the season. We defeated North Side 47-45 in a very exciting and hair-tearing game. Some ending, eh?

February 19—How do you feel? Worn out? No wondr. I imagine you are recuperating from the effects of the dance, which was a big success. Now it is but a pleasant memory. The Senior Masque and Gavel had its regular meeting tonight.

February 20—Today school was dismissed at 3:59, which was very unusual.

February 21—No guidance program this morning. I guess we'll just have to slave through our lessons. We are looking forward to the tourney, though.

February 22—"Red and Black fight, fight! Gloriana, Hespiana, best team in Indiana." Yes, everyone was surely in high spirits at the pep session. By the way, that is a new yell. No school tomorrow because of the tourney. Now I ask you, who would rather go to a tourney than attend school?!? Good luck, Vikes. We know you can do it!!!

February 26—Congratulations to a swell team and coach. We took the sectional tourney by defeating Clear Creek in the final game 29-25. Does anyone have any fingernails left? All kidding aside, we knew you could do it. ON TO THE REGIONAL. Today students were awarded their prizes for the inflation contest. I guess our hard work was not in vain, at least not for Ed Winter, who won first prize of $25. Nice going Ed. You worked hard enough for it.

February 27—The film to be shown today is "Meat and Romance." Are they kiddin'? What? Certain students owe library fines! How could that be??

February 28—The guidance program was a film on the Negro and his part in the war. It sort of makes you think and feel a little ashamed of the race problem in America. After all, they are Americans too and are doing their share to defend our nation. Sad faces were seen all oveh the build at 4 o'clock. Said faces wasn't because school was out. This happened to be report card day.

March

March 1—H. H. S. says "Hello" to the happy school month of March. Dick Bonewitz took first prize at the sub-district American Legion oratorical contest. Congratulations, Dick, and good luck at the district contest today at Marion.

March 2—Everyone is nervous and excited about the Regional Tourney, but I don't see why. Huntington is sure to take it. Good luck, Vikes, we are behind you 100 percent. Dick Bonewitz placed third in the district contest.

March 5—MUNCIE, here we come. The Vikes easily took the regional by defeating Berne 51-31 in the final game. The Vikes travel to the semi-finals at Muncie, where we play Kokomo. "Herm" Hendricks was high point man at the regional with 37 points.

March 6—Today tickets went on sale for the semi-finals. The high school was crowded with anxious fans. Huntington received 900 tickets, and there were 1200 applications. Did I say anxious fans? Well, I meant to say mad! We had a pay film today entitled "Cheers for Miss Bishop." Sadness prevailed over the student body because fourth and fifth periods were omitted.

March 7—The guidance program was omitted this morning; therefore, nothing unusual happened.

March 8—Today Mr. Liddle arrived to give counsel and to help those of us with problems. Mr. Liddle, my problem is . . . Whoops! That's Mr. Anthony, isn't it? He introduced himself during a special guidance period. He then answered our questions third and fifth periods by speeches. Special appointments were made for individual counseling.

March 9—Mr. Liddle spoke to the boys first period and to the girls second period. He answered questions and discussed matters of importance. We had a pep session today at 3:30 to get hep for the semi-finals. Here's hoping we win.

March 12—Today is the happiest day in the lives of Huntington High's students for a long time. The Vikes defeated Kokomo 29-28 in a hair raising game and Muncie Central 42-37 to take the semi-finals. This is the first time the Vikes have ever won a semi-final tourney, and it is the first time in 23 years that they have gone to state. There was quite a bit of celebrating this morning. The halls were jammed with fans trying to reserve tickets for state. We had a pep session with speeches by the coach and Mr. Johnson; also the team members said a few words. The band played a number of selections, and we then had a snake dance. Naturally, there was no school this morning. ON TO STATE.

March 13—Today everything settled back; and students came down out of the air onto the ground once more, that is, all except Marilyn Caldwell, who fell on a sucker stick at play practice and really flew! How's the weather up there, Marilyn?

March 14—For our guidance program Edwin Winter read his essay on the "Tragedy of Inflation." That masterpiece was only worth $25. Dick Bonewitz also gave the speech which he presented in the American Legion contests. Mumps kept Richard Morgan from giving his speech. Those mumps certainly are a nuisance.

March 15—Hold your hearts, girls! At 8:300 we saw Major Clark Gable in an Army Air Corps film, "Combat America." That was one really worthwhile war picture. (It's worth anyone's while to see Gable!) The Kiwanis Club had a dinner for the team, and the Meethodist church threw a supper for them. Gee, the fellows will at least go to Indianapolis on full stomachs.

March 16—The plans for our celebration, "win, lose, or draw," were laid out by Mr. Johnson, the coach, 'Nan" Clark, "Barb" Jones and "Gib" Gardner. All this enthusiasm should bring results!! Well, I guess you'll have to "die laughing" later because the senior play is postponed until April 5 and 6 due to extreme enlargement of the necking apparatus. (Mumps, to you.)

March 19—We lost to Riley of South Bend at Indianapolis Saturday; but, nevertheless, we had a program in the auditorium with speeches by Jack Jones, Dick Bonewitz, "Marv" Priddy, "Morrie" Copenhaver, Coach Williams, Mr. Stephan, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Klepper, Mrs. Patterson, "Barb" Jones, Miss Zahn, and Dick Hammel. Ice cream was furnished by the Cloverleaf Creamery. Yum, yum! Was it delish!! To top it all—kiddies were dismissed at 10:00 o'clock. That's what I call a real present!

March 20—Special called meeting of the Sr. Hi-Y at 2:30 to cuss and discuss the Father and Son Banquet and the Best Girl Dance. Sounds like fun!

March 21—Book-of-the-Month Club meeting at 2:30. Student council meeting at 2:30. Gee, it's going to be crowded in the auditorium. Ah! The first day of Spring. Such lovely weather! (Drip, drip, drip.)

March 22—Speaking of lovely weather, the Modulus staff took pictures of several groups today. Mr. Johnson used the sound system as a means to bawl out the student body for its conduct recently. Tsh! Tsh! Such evil kiddies!

March 23—Are you the jealous type of person? If so, you probably learned your lesson because a comical skit was given over the speaker system with the theme of jealously. The Masque and Gavel had a meeting to discuss plans for a banquet. (How on earth can they pull such a stunt during these rationing times?)

March 26—Today we had the first in our series of religious programs to be given during Holy Week. "Morrie" Copenhaver was really on the beam at Senior play practice. First he got the cat so excited that it tossed its cookies" (regurgitated, to you.) This wasn't enough for the capable Morrie. He split his pants in . . . a most odd place; thus covering his . . . embarrassment with a cloth, he continued his part in the play unaware of the fits of laughter emerging from the rest of the cast.

March 27—Catherine Morris and Jane Brown held the audience spell bound when they sang the ever-beautiful 'Lord's Prayer" in the religious program for today.

March 28—At 11:15 the student body went to the auditorium to view some films which had been taken during snake dances celebrating the victory at Muncie and the trip to the state tourney. Among the pictures shown was one of the team including "Poker Face" Bostel and "Possum Face" Wilhelm.

March 29—The religious service this morning was very beautiful. The stage was decorated with flowers and a beautiful lighted cross. The service was by candle light and was very effective. Since tomorrow is Good Friday, we were dismissed from school. Don't forget to attend the annual sunrise services sponsored by the Hi-Y and Sunshine Society on Easter Sunday at the Central Christian Church.

Diary

April

APRIL 2—School again? This is the week of the senior play. According to Patty Burke, one of the cast, "My nerves are in sweds." Stage fright, you know.

April 3—Some character by the name of Peachy Chrysanthemum Jones was telling everyone about 'a hant," "I done seen in a long white nightie wif her hair a-hangin' down!" She was so excited that she insisted on telling the whole school about it over the sound system. Of course, I think it was really Marilyn Caldwell in an interview about the senior play. but you never can tell. Lawdy, maybe a spook is loose in this high school!!!

April 4—This morning the auditorium (with students in it, of course) witnessed a preview of the play, 'You'll Die Laughing!" It certainly leaves a person in suspense. I suppose we will have to attend the play and find out what really happens. All seniors were told to be measured for caps and gowns. I guess graduation is not very far off.

April 5—While calmly sitting in your classes yesterday afternoon, you probably heard what sounded like mass butchering. It was only the successful matinee of the senior play. The grade school enjoyed the play immensely, even though they did spend most of their time hiding under coats.

April 6—Naomi Wilson was the lucky one to become Senior Queen for 1945. Naomi really did a swell job along with the other nominees selling tickets. The play is to be carried over because of the large number of tickets sold. H. H. S. won its first track meet of the season by defeating Wabash and Gas City. Really a neat start. I'd say.

April 9—Since the weather today was agreeable for once, Modulus pictures were taken of the various clubs. I hear the play cast had a hilarious party at Gerry Zahn's after their final performance. They are pretty tight-lipped about the events. Hm! Sounds bad.

April 10—The arithmetic test was given to all unfortunate juniors today. Now I'll bet they wish they were freshies. That IS a laugh! Excuse the pun, freshmen; but you'll be juniors some day. The senior play cast is still having meetings. Don't they know the play is over? Well, personally, I think it is just a good excuse to skip classes.

April 11—The Pan-American program was given this morning, and I might add it was very good. By the way Carmen Miranda has nothing on Jean Ann Leonhardt. What's all the noise about, a dance of some sort? Oh, I see, it is the Hi-Y Best Girl Dance, which is to be held at the country club Saturday. Now I wonder whether anyone will go strolling on the green, hunting for golf balls, of course. You know they're hard to get. Golf balls, I mean.

April 12—Pictures were taken of the sports winners in G. A. A. Girls can be athletes too. A Pan-American film was shown today entitled "The Bridge."

April 13—The whole world was shocked by the startling news of the death of President Roosevelt. We all mourn a truly great leader. Even the Republicans realize that he was really a great man. It is certainly a serious loss to the country during these times. We won another triple meet by defeating Hartford City and Pennville. Well, see everyone at the dance. Good hunting!

April 16—The dance was really a success. The country club was surely a cozy place with its big fireplace (fire and all). Mrs. Gilbert Schroer spoke to the student body and faculty this morning. She told of her experiences in Japan, where she served as a missionary. Those Japs are downright treacherous people.

April 17—Who's your peanut?? This, my dear friends, is peanut week. Senior and junior Honor Society were announced today. Dick Morgan won first in the Rotary Contest at South Side. He now will advance to the finals. Huntington's track team tasted its first defeat of the season. Gas City was the winner.

April 18—It was announced that the senior play took in approximately $600, and that ain't hay! At the senior Hi-Y meeting, the members discussed further plans for the new room in the Swing Irn. From all reports it is really going to be a swell place to spend spare time.

April 19—There was a pay film today entitled "The Remarkable Andrew." The senior project committee had a meeting to decide what to do with all the senior class money. They could toss a little this way. I wouldn't mind. "Mamie" Sunley gave a spsech on personality at the G. A. A. meeting.

April 20—Everyone seems to be wearing flowers today. You'd think they had raided the high school flower garden or something. Maybe this is a greenhouse instead of a school. This is the end of peanut week, and that probably accounts for the corsages. Huntington had a track meet with Marion.

April 23—The Masque and Gavel had a banquet at the Hotel LaFontaine, which was really lovely. It's always nice when there's food around.

April 25—Salon Rizk gave an interesting speech this afternoon. Naturally, fifth period was omitted. Huntington had a track meet with Peru there. The team surely does get to travel around. Guess we will all have to go out for track.

April 26—Yours truly was absent from school. Sorry!

April 27—What? Another track meet? This time Huntington was host to Central of Manchester.

April 30—Nothing eventful happened, but say, did you know that 100 percent of all food served in restaurants in served on plates? It's also an accepted fact that one-half of all married people are women. It's the honest-to-gosh truth. I wouldn't kid you.

Diary

May

May 1—Well, this is the last month of school. Seniors are beginning to think of their past high school days, and underclassmen are rejoicing that the drudgery will soon be over for three months. Seniors have nine more days, and the rest of the students have twelve. Won't be long now.

May 2—The Masque and Gavel gave a clever play entitled "Grandmother Nick" for the student body. Classes were divided. Oh well, I guess things are tough all over.

May 4—Tomorrow the conference track meet will be held at Peru. We are football C. I. C. champs, so here's hoping history repeats itself in track. The senior party was held tonight and turned out to be quite an affair!

May 8—The senior Honor Society members were dinner guests of the Rotary Club.

May 10—The K. B. F. members were guests of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon. It must be wonderful to have brains! Just look at the free meals you get.

May 11—Today students who achieved anything (now what does that include?) were recognized, as this is achievement day. The seniors marched down in their caps and gowns. You'd think it was a funeral march instead of a graduation processional, from the look on their faces.

May 13—Baccalaureate services were held in the auditorium this afternoon. Seniors appeared once more in their caps and gowns. They are getting used to the tassels, which always manage to fall in front of their faces. Oh well, it's an improvement, I guess. Nothing important hidden but the face.

May 14—Something was missing from the halls this morning. This is senior week, as you all know, and H. H. S. seems rather empty without the seniors. We had a musical program this morning, given by Betty Kramer Heeter. It was a paid program. Maybe that auditorium fee wasn't wasted after all.

May 16—Students were dismissed from school for the summer months. We bid goodbye to H. H. S. until next year. It was truly an eventful year.

May 17—The senior and junior Honor Society members ventured out into the wide open spaces to cook breakfast. I'm sure they got up at the crack of dawn! An enjoyable time was had by all. The traditional Junior-Senior Reception began at 6:30. It was really appreciated by all seniors, and we express our thanks to the juniors who really made it a memorable one.

May 18—Commencement exercises were held at 8:00 p. m. The seniors said good-bye to good old H. H. S., which shall never be forgotten. You sort of get used to her after you've been around here for four years, or maybe more. Well, that closes the book for the year of '45. Now we have only the memories. So long, diary, you're finished until some poor unlucky person is sucker enough to write you for the year of '46.

Class Will

"Morrie" Copenhaver wills his gavel-wielding to "Possum" Priddy.

Joann Humbarger leaves K. B. F. to aspiring juniors. Good luck, kids!

Jane Ann Emley bequeaths her abundant hair to Rex Yoder.

Bill Bostel returns his numerous athletic honors to Herbert Newell.

The Ervin twins leave together so we won't be confused.

Betty Ann Day leaves her dunce cap to Charlotte Rahn.

Fred Rudig, Darwin Whitted, and Bill Ehinger turn over their extra packages of fags to Eddie Roudebush, and Mary Lou Patterson, who accept them with open arms.

Rosie Lookwood wills her naturally curly hair to Nan Clark. (Let the bobbie pins fall where they may).

Clara Jane Kennedy gives her artistic ability to Stanley Pontius.

Jo Ann Clark and John Glasson leave Don Dimond and Sara Casey.

"Herm" Hendricks leaves a girl! (We never thought we'd live to see that!)

Wilma Laymon leaves her "Harry James" tone to Dick Windemuth.

Bob McCoy bequeaths his masculine physique to Carlos Kennedy.

Hattie (Short) Besser wills her ability to catch a man to Hurleen Feltman.

Joe Murduck wills his extensive vocabulary to Art 'The Voice" Miller.

Caroline Reed leaves her tall, slender beauty to Pat Jones.

Joanne Hueber leaves her long, windy wheeze to our broken-down radiators.

Carolyn Paul leaves J. C. Carl and vice versa.

"Sunshine" Floyd wills his beaming smile to Ivan Wilhelm.

Naomi Wilson refused to leave her trophy. Can we blame her?

Jim Carroll leaves his "call of the wild" to Dean Stephan.

Patty Porter leaves a "weeping willow" to H. H. S. for landscaping in the near future.

Edwin Winter, as he leaves for the army, returns the weighty inflation problem to President Truman.

Barbara Huser gives her mania for "going steady" to Steve Carlson.

Jane Brown leaves her ability to appreciate a joke to Nancy Paul.

Norman Spotts bequeaths the ants in his pants to high jumper Harold Schultz.

Marilyn Caldwell leaves her extra V-mail stationery to Nancy Herbst.

Mark Weber wills his "extra hundred inches" to "Slim" Hullinger.

Pat Burke, alias "Iona", leaves her ability to hang on to men to Jo Gilkison, Admiral King's rival.

Russell Johnson leaves his chewing gum (when he can get it) in Miss Weiford's waste basket.

Betty "Cluck Cluck" Shearer donates her poultry market to any underclassman who's just a chicken at heart.

Mary Triggs bequeaths her fife to the Spirit of '76.

Don Diffenbaugh deposits his fluent German on top of Hitler's grave.

Pat Williams leaves her bald spot to some friendly walrus.

After four years of back-breaking study, James Pollock leaves with a sign of relief.

John Kussmaul leaves his Ft. Wayne girls to some imaginative junior.

Jean Ann Mickley wills her "third finger, left hand technique" to Cozetta Neher.

"Gib" Gardner leaves the bench to Coach Williams.

"Terrible Tye" Robinson leaves his completed passes (on the football field)) to Pat Browne.

Jo Ann Platt departs from Huntington High School feeling glad that she transferred from Markle and sorry that she didn't transfer to Banquo.

Nancy Winebrenner reluctantly leaves Bob Barnes. Do we sense tears of remorse?

Susie Brown turns her money bags over to Gerry Zahn, who can use them for pin money.

Jim Weaver leaves his T-square to the mechanical drawing classes.

Ilo Van Buskirk wills her good grades to Joe Burkhart.

Gwen Swaidner bequeaths her quiet, serene personality to Nick Lambros.

Euanna Thorn leaves her her note-worthy vocal cords to Joe Powers to use on his rendition of "Don't Fence Me In."

Carolyn Repp wills her freckles to Jim Crawford.

Arleen Funk and Dick Hammel leave for the license bureau.

Bevan K. Youse wills his correct trig answers to Bob Luce.

Lyle Ahner bequeaths his cat-like qualities to the Ladies' Aid Society.

Jm Cozad, Leo Davis, Clete Olinger, Alvin Heaston, Bob Altman, Ralph Jones, and Lowell Murray left early to visit a common relative, Uncle Sam.

Mary Lou Bowers and Gene Musselman depart, crying on each other's shoulders.

Mary K. Robinson leaves her middle initial to Bob Broom, but we dare not say what it stands for.

Dick Conklin leaves his airplane license to Katie Hummer, who's already flying high.

Ed Wasmuth gives honor society to Harry Townsley.

Janet Stoutenberry leaves her giggle to Bruce Gerdes and classes.

Peggy Fansler leaves her broken back to any sophomore who thinks he can make the grade in 3½ years.

Helen Sheppard bequeaths her extensive information of the latest movies, books, radio programs, etc. to Miss Cage.

Katty Morris departs from the drum section with a heavy heart beat.

Marge Spath leaves her mohair brushes to some angora goat.

Bob Bowman finds parting is not sweet sorrow as another senior is also parting.

Lorna Schultz leaves Huntington Catholic High School frmly imbedded in the Warren soil.

Betty Wiles, along with hundreds of others, leave a bad case of the mumps to all the hooky-players in H. H. S.

Juanita Wilson bequeaths her knowledge of mechanics to the North Side Garage.

Betty Kriegbaum and Eugene Schenkel leave H. H. S. halls vacant.

TRIGGS and KRIEGBAUM

Top Left—"Don't Fence Me In," pleads Joe Powers to the accompaniment of the band at a game, while Katie Morris awaits her turn at the mike.
Top Right—"You'll Die Laughing," it says, but the boys seem unworried as they prepare the sign for the senior play: Whitted, Johnson, Carl, Powell, Carroll, Copenhaver, and a couple of young "Kibitzers."
Middle Left—He knows his nose knows it's Hi-Y initiation.
Center—Lawrence Merriweather pleases his high school audienc,e with Mrs. Helen Thomas Bucher as accompanist.
Lowr Left and Center—Nancy Herbst and Roger Kauffman take part in a WOWO "Junior Town Meeting" which is recorded for broadcasting the next day.
Lower Right—John Sowerwine, H. H. S. alumnus, presents a piano recital.

Class Prophecy

Here we are, two (for lack of proper adjective we won't elaborate) juniors, seated at a table. In front of us are three sacks of cookies and 148 cubic feet of air.

"Have a cookie?"

"Thanks, don't mind if I do. All this food is making me drowsy. Oh, well . . . let's get on with the pro . . . phe . . . yyyz-z--zzzz."

If we could draw, we'd show a log being sawed in half. But since we can't draw anything but conclusions (although we do manage to pull a few strings), to get our point across, we'll just have to tell you, we're dreaming.

Get out of our way, Lamson! He, what are you doing here anyhow? In fact, what are we doing out here in the waste-lands of the West? (Oh, well, this is a dream, so we can get away with murder. We can be anywhere anytime; and when anyone wants to know why and how we got here, we'll just tell them it's a dream.)

To get back to Jim "Two Gun" Lamson, we find him rustling,—er—uh—roping, cattle. He's singing that old cowboy tune, "Throw the Saddle on the Stove, Ma, I'm Riding the Range Tonight." He'd better get going though, because here comes the owner of the ranch, ol' rootin'-tootin' trigger-happy Mary Triggs, the pride of the Golden West.

We tried to find the Blackhawk Valley Boys, 'Herm" Hendricks, "Slim" Musselman, "Goog" Wasmuth, and "Bones" Bostel, but they were out trying to find Barbara "Hoosier Hop." That is, all except Bostel. He's always wanting to "Hum-mer" 'nother tune.

What's all that noise over there at the next place? Why, if it isn't Donald "Dog Ears" Diffenbaugh's Dude Ranch celebrating the arrival of a new crop of city slickers. They are being greeted by Duane "I(O) U" Fanning, who operates the ranch for Don. Among the guests are Bob Airgood, Bill Ehinger, Barbara Bonebrake, and "Gunner" Gert Jamison. "Juicy" Carl is trying to teach "Side Saddle" Sadie Robinson to ride the old bay mare, but she just ain't what she used to be. In charge of the kitchen is that impeccable culinary dietitian, Peggy Fansler.

But enough of this wild west wahoo. Let's hop the next covered wagon driven by Bob 'Cycle" Hoke. Our guide, Clara Jane Kennedy, is out here in the waste lands schetching cactus, mountains, and wolves. Did we say s-ketch? She tells us we are scheduled to arrive in Hollywood at 9:30 which is really swell. We'll just be in time for the opening of the lots which we intend to visit. First let's go to the MGM lot. You know, McCoy, Glasson, and Murdock. It is about time for the arrival of the cast for the big new movie, 'A Weed Grows In Flatbush," written by Gib Gardner. Get it? You know, "Weeds" Gardner? Ho!

Tripping lightly onto the set comes the starlet, Miss Patricia Burke, better known as the Lauren Bacall of 1960. Pat is supposed to sing that famous song, "Morrie and Morrie." Her leading man is Fred Rudig, who plays the part of Tarzan. Johnnie Weismul'er tried to argue with the crocodile once too often.

The next set which we visit is that of 20th Century Wolf. This studio is, of course, owned and operated by the 20th Century Wolf himself, Jim Carroll. The only other person there that we know is the costume manager, Gene Marie Miller. Her brother Jack is a set electrician for the next studio we visit, which is RKO—Riggles, Kaussmaull, and Olinger. They are filming a giant musical show about a Mexican drunkard. It's called "Souse of the Border." The leading man is Bob Bowman. Aren't we mean?!! This dream is turning into a nightmare.

Writing scripts for the Controversal Studios Betty Kreigbaum. She has the slogan above her desk, "Rome was built in a day." Shen-kill (Schenkel) us if she saw us. "Cubie" is her chief assistant in charge of hammy gags because she has such an excel'ent sense of Heuber.

But enough of this Hollywood life. Let's dream ourselves across country to New York—right up to Coney Island. The first thing which greets (?) our sense of smell is the aroma of burning meat. Upon closer inspection we find that it is the New York annex of the Double Dip, better known as Humbarger's Hamburgers. Behind the counter we find the Ervin twins and "Cossie" Hoover waiting on customers as quickly as possible. To take care of table service, they have hired that well-known starlet of the net, Jane Ann Emley, to be a singing waitress.

With lots of time before nightfall we decide to take the ferry into New York city itself.

Well, what do you know! Here in a little building on West 48th Street is Copenhaver's Pet Shop. It seems that Morrie's having a lot of trouble teaching his dogs how to set up and "Burke."

As we are passing Carnegie Hall, we just can't resist stopping for a minute to hear the concert by that famous pianist, Jose Anzio Abramizo. While we're on the subject of music, let's pay a visit to the CBS studios, where Lawrence Tibbett is still singing "Don't Fence Me In."

On Well Street we visited the brokerage firm of Conklin, Dennie, and Whitted. They've hired Lyle Ahner for an office boy, and now and then they let him open the safe because they know he is "Ahner"-able. We hope that that doesn't "Herbst" his feelings.

Mary Lou has a pretty greenhouse and has established the firm of "Bower's Flowers." Flowers won't protect you from the Boogie Man, Mary Lou.

Tye Robinson has taken over as managing editor of the New York Daily Moon. He rose to fame through his excellent writing in his personal column, "My Day". Betty, by the way, is an alto soloist in the big Methodist choir. The only trouble is, she always wants to sing "Blest be the 'Tye' that binds." When they don't let her sing it, she's fit to be "tyed." isn't that "Tye"-riffic?

In case this isn't deep enough for you, let's dream up a trip in a submarine. Now that we are under water, you'll say, "How do you expect to find members of the 1945 graduating class in Davy Jones's locker?" (Get it, Barb?) You'd be surprised. Why, even the officers of our sub are fellas we know. Admirals Cozad, Davis, Olinger, and Jones are in charge of steel-wooling the deck. Say, who is that peeking through the keyhole—woops, we mean the periscope? Why, if it isn't the Kasco Kid himself, Bevan Lou—er—Youse. The chow line forms to the right, and in it we find none other than Mark Weber and Norm Spotts. What's all the excitement? Oh, they've found a stowaway! If it isn't JoAnn Clark! She will never find Di(a)monds at the bottom of the ocean!

At this point we're up against it. (Ouch!) Get the point? Anyhow, we can't find anything to say about Marilyn Caldwell, Carolyn Repp, Katy Morris, and Carolyn Paul; so the least we can do is to dedicate this poem to them:

"Don't worry if your job is small
And your rewards are few:
Remember that the mighty Oak
Was once a nut like you."

Upon landing (yes, we're still drifting around), we're pretty hungry. The Brown Derby looks invisiting, so we go in. Whom do we find on the reception line but Susanne and Jane, the Brown girls. Serving as hat-check girl is "Dee-Dee" Gilbert, who doubles in the chorus line during the floor show. Speaking of the floor show, we dropped in at the right time, for the curtain has just gone up and the chorus is coming on stage led by Helen 'LaConga" Sheppard. Other beauties in the chorus line are Juanita Wilson, Pat Williams, Benta Meese, and Janet Stoutenberry. Notice those lovely artistic back-drops? They were designed and painted by the now-famous Marge Spath, designer for stage, screen and television. In the orchestra are none other than Nancy Winebrenner and Wilma Laymon, still playing flute and cornet respectively. Sorry to horn in, girls!

Naomi Wilson was last night crowned "Miss ex-Senior Play Queen Brown Derby of 1960." She's the current "Queen of Hearts." Opposite her is the undertaker who was just crowned "King of Spades," John "Digger" Kussmaul.

On the way back to Huntington we pass a sign that reminds us of the kids we used to know in H. H. S. The sign say, "Mary Moore, Justice of the Dean Pease."

Upon arrival in our fair City of Petunias, we notice a big new factory that makes bathtubs. It's owned by Duaine Dubbs. You know, "Dubb's Tubs!" One of his foremen is Dick Conklin, who is the ring, . . . er—that is, the man who puts the rings around the tubs.

Dick Floyd still gets disgusted with having two first names.

Let's drop in for a surprise visit on Russ Johnson, manager of the Huntington Theatre. He's pretty busy now, because they're having the world premiere of Pat Burke's new picture at his theater tonight. June has invited us all up after the show for a visit to her 'Rich-wine" cellar. To add a little seasoning, we'll mention Ed Winter, now a general in the city street sweepers association.

Look out, don't fall in that—Help—Help!—Oh, where are we? My gosh! We must have fallen asleep. Gee! Why, I gues it all was just sumpin' we et!
